DISCUSS AID FOR SHIPS.

Plan to Compete With British.

Experts Working Out Plan for Helping Finance Merchant Marine.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. — Direct remuneration of American ship operators out of a fund amounting to probably $34,000,000 for the fiscal year 1922-23, and establishment of $100,000,000 merchant marine loan fund, are among the features of the comprehensive plan for the aid of the American merchant marine submitted to the Shipping Board by the committees of experts recently appointed to work out a program for presentation to Congress by President Harding.

The program embodies both direct and indirect aid. The aim is to put American shipping on an even competitive basis with British shipping.

Direct remuneration would be provided from ten per cent of the customs collections. It is estimated that one-tenth for the fiscal year 1922-23 would be $20,000,000. To that would be added $4,000,000 tonnage taxes collected in American ports from all ships, both American and foreign.

PROPOSED INDIRECT AID.

(1.) Sale of the government-owned ships at prevailing world market prices.

(2.) $100,000,000 loan fund for the financing of all American ship operating organizations.

(3.) Deduction from Federal income taxes of a small percentage on the freight bills paid by exporters and importers on American vessels, greater depreciation allowance on ships for income-tax purposes,

(4.) Government marine insurance corporation to insure its own ships and to offer hull insurance at cost to privately owned American vessels, the Corporation to be financed from a fund of $10,000,000 advanced by the government.

INSURE INCOME.

(5.) Regulations to insure American ships at least 50 per cent of immigration coming to this country.

(6.) Regulation of foreign ships entering American ports through a licensing system.

(7.) Revision of navigation laws.

(8.) Preferential export and im-

State Forester Starts Investigation of Shipments From California.

Said to be Securing Every Available Foot Suitable for Airplanes.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23. — An investigation of the amount and character of lumber shipments from California to Japan has been undertaken by the California State Board of Forestry, it was announced today by M. B. Pratt, State Forester.

A statement was issued, signed by Pratt and Deputy State Forester Solon H. Williams, in which it was declared that Japanese buyers were securing "every available foot of port or ford cedar which, because of its clean, straight grain, is particularly adapted to the manufacture of airplanes," and have practically cleaned up the open market on cedar and hemlock.

A check of shipments from the Pacific Coast to Japan during the first six months of this year shows a total of 90,850,884 board feet shipped from Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia, the statement says, adding that incomplete checks of shipments from California indicate that large amounts of lumber are going to the Orient from California forests.

The statement follows:

FORESTER'S STATEMENT.

"The recent tremendous demand for Pacific Coast lumber in the Orient has led the California State Board of Forestry to conduct an investigation, which has disclosed some rather startling figures of great significance to every person interested in the conservation of forests and in seeing that a supply of timber is available for future generations.

"For the past few months Japanese buyers have been active here on the Pacific Coast placing large orders for lumber, to be paid for at market prices, only on condition that it be cut in dimensions suitable for Japanese needs. Information from reliable sources indicates that this movement is the outgrowth of an order issued by the Japanese Parliament prohibiting further cutting in Japanese forests. This step is understood to have been taken, not so much as a means of conservation as for the purpose of controlling the flood situation.

"It is said that the restrictions on cutting in Japanese forests may be removed in a relatively short time, but that any modification will depend on the findings of a commission composed of Japanese engi-

LATE MORNING NEWS

TITLED YOUTH HELD UP BY THUGS

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Philip S. Honywood, youngest son of the late Sir John William Honywood and Lady Honywood and nephew of the Earl of Devon of Powderham Castle, Exeter, Eng., was held up, beaten and robbed of a large amount of money tonight on a lonely road about a mile from his home at Woodcliff, N. J. Mr. Honywood was struck behind the ear with a blackjack and knocked unconscious, so that he was unable to tell a complete story of the attack upon him or exactly how much money had been stolen. Late tonight he was still unconscious and it was not known whether his skull had been fractured or whether he would recover.

ORDER OFFICERS HELD AFTER KILLING

ANTIGO (Wis.) Dec. 23.—Three Federal prohibition agents and a Langlade county deputy sheriff, who participated in the gun fight on Thursday in which Julius Wurzer, alleged moonshiner, was killed, were ordered held on manslaughter charges today by the Coroner's jury, which investigated Wurzer's death. Testimony presented at the inquest indicated that the raiders, who were armed with search warrants, opened fire after Wurzer had drawn a revolver after being ordered to surrender.

POSSE HUNTING GIRL'S MURDERER

NEW MRUNSWICK (N. J.) Dec. 23.—Aroused by the cruel death of 5-year-old Tessie Kucharski, whose mutilated body was found today packed in a suit case at the Hotel Albany, posses of angry men tonight were searching for George Garris, 45, a carpenter, with whom the police charged the child was last seen alive. The crime has aroused bitter feeling and threats of violence were being openly made should the man suspected fall into the hands of his pursuers.

DISCOVER MAN DEAD IN BATHTUB

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23.—Arthur S. Maze, 25, local street-car conductor, was discovered dead in a bathtub of his home tonight by neighbors living in an adjoining flat. Death was due to accidental drowning, the Coroner said.

ULSTER WRECKS COUNCIL.

Fermanagh County Body Dissolved by Government After It Refused to Recognize Authority.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BELFAST, Dec. 23. — The Ulster government has dissolved the Fermanagh County Council following its decision to refuse to recognize the Ulster Parliament. The Fermanagh Council recently took steps to act with the Dublin government of the proposed Irish free state, which is to be created if the Anglo-Irish treaty is ratified.

WILL SAVE TREATY.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—The adjournment of Dail Eireann for Christmas doubtless will save the treaty with Great Britain. The members departed for their homes last night and will be subject to the pressure of the opinion of their constituents, an opinion probably in favor of the treaty, though this opinion may not induce all the die-hard Republicans to vote for ratification.

Some have committed themselves against the treaty, no matter what the people say, but several may be persuaded to abstain from voting. Such abstention would favor the eventual passage of the treaty.

EXCELLENT ORATORY.

For a week I sat in the Dail listening to debate which, from the point of honesty, and even of oratory, is on a high plane. From the point of parliamentary order, it too had the advantage of most of the best oratory and hard reasoning.

But that is a fault which time will correct. This was a remarkable assembly in which votes really were influenced by oratory. Those opposed to ratification gained day by day by the fiery appeals of women and old men notwithstanding the fact that the element for ratification had the advantage of the best oratory and hard reasoning.

The best literary performance, that of Miss Mary MacSwiney, was spoiled by too great length. She spoke for nearly three hours. De Valera also spoke well, but too frequently abandoned argument to appeal to passion. From all points of view the speech which was the greatest and which will live in history was that of Gavan Duffy for ratification.

LONDON ROPEFUL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The Dail Eireann's adjournment of further debate on the Irish peace treaty until January 3, although coming as a surprise here, was considered as favorable to the chances of ratification. By agreement between the contending factions, the Dail members will deliver no speeches touching on the treaty during the period of adjournment, or participate in public meetings at which the treaty is discussed, but it is believed the Irish people will get together and agitate for ratification.

Numerous agricultural and business associations and civic bodies in Ireland are said to be planning meetings to pass resolutions favoring the treaty.

TO DEPORT INSULTER OF LEGION.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Arthur Lorenz, whose scathing editorial against the American Legion published in the Illinois Staats Zeitung has aroused ex-service men all over the country, today was recommended for deportation by Asst. U. S. Dist.-Atty. John V. Clinnin. The recommendation was made to Immigration Commissioner Howard Eby. In a conference called today by Col. Clinnin, National Commander Hanford MacNider, State Commander W. R. McCauley and other officials of the Legion discussed the general proposition of placing a new check on the so-called drive of disloyalty among certain foreign-language newspapers.

Publishers of the Staats Zeitung disclaim responsibility for the invectives contained in the virulent editorial directed against ex-service men of all ranks and particularly the American Legion. A suit for $100,000 damages has been filed against the paper by the Blackhawk Post.

A record of disloyalty on the part of Lorenz during the World War in the files of the Department of Justice, was partially disclosed today and it is declared that the writer can be deported on this evidence alone.

"If possible, I shall obtain orders for the deportation of Lorenz tomorrow," said Col. Clinnin to the Legion committee. His record during the war gives ample reason for sending him back to Posen, whence he came when that city was under Prussian rule. Through the American Legion we must grasp such seditionists by the scruff of the neck and throw them out of the country."

Col. Watterson Funeral Service in Jacksonville.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Dec. 23. Funeral services were held today for Col. Henry Watterson, editor and soldier, who died suddenly here yesterday.

The services, which, at the request of the family, were attended only by a few friends and newspaper men, consisted of the reading of the Scriptures and a brief eulogy by the Rev. J. T. Boone, pastor of the First Christian Church. There was no music. Mrs. Watterson, because of her physical condition, did not attend.

PAUL CONRAD MORF.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, Dec. 23.—Paul Conrad Morf, 52, city attorney of Oakland in 1918, corporation lawyer and author of the State Public Utility Act, died today after an extended illness. He was a native of Germany.

Big Shipments Hard Blow to Butter Prices.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—Two shipments of butter, aggregating approximately 1,064,000 pounds due here shortly from Australia and New Zealand are responsible for a slump in extra choice butter on the San Francisco market from 47½ cents Monday to 43 cents today, according to the San Francisco representative of the Federal Bureau of Markets.

The amount of butter expected in the near future from the Antipodes is three times as large as was received from the same shipping points a few weeks ago. At that time the market weakened perceptibly under the importations.

KIDNAPER ALSO BANDIT.

Consort of Slain Accomplice Identifies Chicago Abductor as Chesterfieldian Train Robber.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Clyde Timmons of Hammond, Ind., who with a companion last night kidnaped Mrs. James J. Callahan, wife of the former manager of the White Sox baseball club, and other members of an automobile party, was today partly identified as the masked bandit who last Tuesday night robbed passengers on a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train as it was leaving Chicago.

Timmons's companion, Earl Timmons of Chicago, a cousin, was shot and killed by a policeman last night following a chase after the Callahan car. Earlier in the day Timmons confessed, according to the police, that he and his partner had participated in several hold-ups, including a train robbery on an Oregon Short Line train on August 31, when they collected $450. Following the confession, Mary Roberts, said to have been an intimate acquaintance of the man who was killed, was taken into custody.

She told a Coroner's jury investigating the death of Earl Timmons today that she met him in Salt Lake City, a year ago, and had been living with him for the past three months. Jewelry she possessed was said by the police to be part of the spoils from two hold-ups. According to Clyde Timmons, she left her husband in Salt City City to come to Chicago with Earl Timmons.

Alfred Timmons, a Chicago veterinary surgeon, at the inquest today, identified the dead man as his son. As he stepped from the witness chair after testifying he

CALL OUT SOLDIERS IN STRIKE.

Four Companies Ordered to Newport, Ky.; Serious Danger Exists.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRANKFORT (Ky.) Dec. 23.—Four companies of Kentucky National Guardsmen totaling 160 men and the necessary officers tonight were ordered to Newport by Gov. Morrow. They are due to arrive in Newport early tomorrow.

Three other companies have been ordered held in readiness to proceed to the scene if needed, Gov. Morrow said, in announcing the sending of troops.

The troops were sent to Newport by Gov. Morrow on his own initiative. None of the peace officers of the city or of Campbell county had asked for them. Reports from private investigators, the Governor said, indicated that conditions were such that the peace officers could not handle the situation.

"Serious danger exists," the Governor said, "that at any moment an outbreak may occur, causing the loss of dozens of lives and the disgrace of the State."

ARMS MEET MAKING HUGE CONTRIBUTION, DECLARES PRESIDENT

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—President Harding expressed the opinion today that the International Conference on the Limitation of Armament is making "the greatest contribution to peace and good will that has ever marked the Christmas time in all the Christian era."

This comment was elicited by questions of newspaper correspondents in regard to the interpretation of the four-power Pacific treaty, which is construed by the negotiators as applying to the principal islands of Japan, a construction to which Mr. Harding says he has no objection, despite his previous view of the pact to the contrary.

"The President," Mr. Harding said, "will offer no comment on the disputes which attempt to magnify the differing constructions of the four-party treaty. To him these are unimportant. The big things aimed at are understandings for peace and an agreement to meet and discuss the preservation of peace whenever it is threatened. No alliance or entanglement is thought of, none will be negotiated. It would be better to rejoice over things accomplished than to dwell on differing views which can be of no great consequence.

"The President is unwilling that the unjustified charge that the United States delegates are withholding information shall go unchallenged. He had full confidence, else he had not chosen them, and he has full confidence now and is more than gratified over their efforts, because they are working out peace and good will, which has ever marked the Christmas time in all the Christian era.

SEEK ACTUALITY.

"It is one thing to talk about the ideals of peace, but the bigger thing is to seek the actuality. This the conference is doing, in harmony with an overwhelming American sentiment and a world sentiment, too, and in full accord with cherished American traditions."

Replying to the question, "Do you feel that the world has made great progress in the direction of peace and good will?" President Harding said:

"I think I made some such reply to a similar question at the last interview. I do think so. I believe it with all my heart. I do not say that with the thought of arrogating to the United States of America any greater part of the contribution than that which has been made by other nations of like importance and like civilization.

"But it seems to me that in 1921, as we have come to know more fully the aftermath of the war, as we have come to appraise the unspeakable cost of it all, there is a new conviction in the hearts of men that that sort of appeal—the appeal to arms—to settle international questions is a futile thing and that we are unworthy of our position and undo not find some means for a righteous adjustment without appeal to slaughter and waste and all the distress that attends.

"I think that conviction has rooted itself throughout the world and there must come some helpful progressive expression of it. I think that expression is being given at this conference. I have no thought to preach on this subject today but make your own applications, please.

FIND AGREEMENTS.

"When men sit about the council table and look each other in the face and look upon the problems deliberately, without passion, they find the way to come to an agreement. And after all, there has never been a conflict in the

FRENCH HOLDING OUT FOR BIG SUBMARINE TONNAGE.

Admiral De Bon Presents Attitude Following Balfour's Plea for Complete Abolition.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A three-hour triangular debate on submarines occurred today in the naval committee of the Washington conference, Admiral De Bon of France, Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British group, and Senator Schanzer of Italy being the only participants.

The official communique issued by the committee showed that no action was taken, although Admiral De Bon declared the conference could not "reasonably" limit submarine construction at all; but that if it did, "that 10,000 tons is the absolute minimum for all the navies who may want to have a submarine force."

For the British, Balfour reiterated and extended arguments already advanced by Lord Lee for total abolishment of submarines. He admitted, however, that "the British Empire has no hope of getting any important support in the course of this conference," adding "I do earnestly trust that our debates may go beyond the limits of this room or even of a public session."

Senator Schanzer insisted that the conference was "confronted by a substantially technical difference of opinion," as the defensive value of submarines. The Italian delegation felt that the problem should be "examined subsequently in a wider conference," he said, before any action toward abolishment of underwater craft could be undertaken.

SPIRIT OF PROPOSAL.

"For the present," Senator Schanzer added, "one point is clear in our minds and that is that the best course would be to follow even in this case, the spirit of the American proposal and consequently to limit submarines to the measure strictly necessary for the ends of a purely defensive naval policy."

Admiral DeBon took exception to a portion of Balfour's remarks which the French officer regarded as imputing to him a design to support the theory that submarines had a right to destroy merchant vessels after saving the crews. Neither he nor the French government held that view, he said.

Balfour replied that he had not intended to misrepresent Admiral DeBon but had attempted to show that if the submarine was to play "the great role in future wars which Admiral DeBon had suggested in his speech it could only do so by resort to extreme methods, for it was futile to suppose that submarines would make a practice of stopping merchant ships, and, placing prize crews on board, take them into port."

OPENS DEBATE.

Admiral DeBon opened the debate with a lengthy address to the committee calling attention to the opposing views as to the submarines expressed yesterday by Lord Lee and the report of the American advisory committee. But for certain differences of opinion in the naval committee, he said, these two presentations might be regarded as having almost exhausted debate.

As to the usefulness of submarines against war craft, Admiral DeBon recalled that France lost three battleships, five cruisers and had several other ships torpedoed during the war, losing 120,000 tons in fighting craft in all from submarine attack. He said that Italy and Great Britain had also lost battle-craft in the same way, and that in addition that all three nations were compelled to erect defensive systems against U-boats which certainly had an influence toward weakening the general forces of the nations engaged."

The admiral argued that Germany had "maintained her entire coast intact because her submarine force had made approach to the mine field protections really dangerous while in the Adriatic submarines also formed one of the most powerful means of action for the enemy."

Bombardments of Turkish fortifications at the Dardanelles, he added had been hampered by enemy submarines and paid for

GERMANY'S PROPAGANDA LET LOOSE.

Berlin Attempts to Bolster Peoples' Hopes in Wanted Moratorium.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—As a consequence of the abrupt ending of the meeting of Premiers Briand and Lloyd George at London, the most intense propaganda has been loosed by the German government for home consumption.

This is to keep up the hopes of the German people in a moratorium. Papers friendly to the government are explaining in similar language that no decision at London is equal to a decision favorable to Germany and that the real assistance from British sources is coming from the meeting of the Allied Supreme Council at Cannes next month.

Financial circles, on the other hand, are gloomy, interpreting the Allied decision as meaning that the Germans are to pay the January installment of the reparations in full.

To keep up appearances the government is continuing statements that the Reichsbank's gold reserve is private property and not subject to attachment.

The government, from the Chancellor down, is not optimistic over the success of the bankruptcy appeal, forced by the Stinnes party, which hoped that the resulting contact with the Entente governments would produce joint action with regard to Russia. They even hoped that American Ambassador Harvey might attend the Cannes meeting and second the German appeals. The whole scheme was to drive down dollar exchange and facilitate raising money for the January reparations.

SHANTUNG AGREEMENT SEEN

Japan Said to Be Ready to Yield So She Can Hang on to Manchurian Holdings.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOKIO, Dec. 23.—The Japanese Cabinet will meet tomorrow to consider the Shantung and Siberian questions. The Shantung deadlock is not as serious as Washington dispatches would indicate. The truth is that Japan is determined to use Shantung as a club to make China give the Mikado a free hand in Manchuria. Japan is determined not to give up the advantages it has gained in Manchuria.

The Siberian question is looked upon here as the most serious confronting Japan and there seems little hope of an early solution. Japan wants an agreement with the Chita government of the Far Eastern Republic guaranteeing private property rights, but Chita is unable to act without the approval of the Moscow government, if Japan refuses to grant any form of recognition to the Russian soviet government. This makes the possibility of an early agreement under which Japan can evacuate Siberia look hopeless.

It is reported here that the United States shares Japan's views concerning negotiations with the Russians.

Japan is determined to hold on to Saghalien. It has built a large coaling station at the southern tip and is developing the coal mines in the northern half. The railway is being extended in order to carry the coal to Japan. American-built locomotives for use on the railway are now being delivered at Saghalien.

Hostile resolutions attacking the American government and demanding the resignation of the Japanese plenipotentiaries to the Washington conference, which were presented to Ambassador Warren, came from an unimportant political group. The people generally are behind the government, according to all indications.

When the objectors proposed to stage a demonstration before the American Embassy, Ambassador Warren sent word to come ahead and he would pay for the band. Only two demonstrators appeared.

WORK SCARCE, COST OF LIVING HIGH, IN MEXICO.

Americans Unwise to Migrate to South Unless They Have Capital or Job is Assured.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 23.—Americans have been entering Mexico in large numbers since the beginning of the Obregon administration or somewhat before that. It is estimated that during this time about 8000 crossed the Rio Grande bound for Mexico City, and probably this many more for other points in the republic.

These added to some 20,000, who remained in the country throughout the revolution ought to make the total count here between 25,000 and 40,000, roughly speaking, for no accurate census of Americans here has been taken since 1910, when there were about 60,000 in the republic.

MANY HAVE RETURNED.

But although many Americans have come here, many have returned. There are less than 4000 in Mexico City.

During the campaign undertaken at the beginning of the Obregon administration to advertise Mexico, many Americans were attracted here. Numbers had no experience or qualifications for fighting the battle so they returned or were sent back by their friends or by the American societies.

The American Chamber of Commerce does not recommend Americans to come to Mexico unless they have the necessary capital to start in some business they know or have situations beforehand, for experience has proven that under present conditions, it is not easy for a foreigner to find employment.

LIVING COSTS HIGH.

The cost of living is high, and the young American who comes here into a new atmosphere where life is so free and so different from that at home, generally wants to lead the life, for a time at least. To do this he must have a liberal salary. So the cost of employing Americans is high. The result is that virtually all the American concerns are employing Mexicans in ever increasing numbers.

During the revolution most Americans who were not tied down fled the country and the American concerns which continued to do business were forced to employ and train Mexican help. This has proven much more successful than was anticipated.

Capital coming into Mexico is much in the same condition as the American looking for a situation here. It is true that it finds many attractive openings and that countless propositions are put up to it. But there are many things here to scare it away. There is no security for capital invested in rural property, so little American money is going into land. More than 2000 producing mines have shut down because of the low price of ore and of the high export taxes and the Federal and local taxes.

PLANTATIONS CLOSED.

Most of the American plantations and large landed companies are still shut down with little prospect of their beginning operation in the near future, and all the fine rubber plantations, practically all of which belong to Americans and in which millions of dollars have been invested, are growing wild and no rubber is being extracted and none is being shipped from the country because labor is expensive and local and Federal taxes and export duties run the cost of production so high that Mexican rubber is not able to compete in the market with the Old World product.

But there is and will be some American capital coming into the country. All this has been in the mercantile line; in the establishment of machinery and other agencies; in the opening of sales and warehouses and showrooms.

CATTLEMEN HAVE LEFT.

Advertising of the depleted conditions of Mexican ranches brought scores of cattlemen to Mexico and for a time they filled one of the foremost hotels of the capital where they made their headquarters. But most of these have closed up business here and gone back home or are about to do so. They found the agrarian policy of the government had so depreciated the value of land that the banks would not lend a cent on rural property, and the landowners, poverty-stricken through the effects of ten years' revolution, had no money and no credit and could make purchases only on long-time credit.

So the American concerns, with a few exceptions, who are investing capital in Mexico, are doing business with the cities and towns. Some of the concerns registered with the American Chamber of Commerce in this city indicated the line of American business which is coming into Mexico.

These include makers of tractors, the Crown, Cork and Seal Company, agency for Honolulu Ironwork Company, dairy products concerns, various companies making fire protection and fire device apparatus, pipes for mines and sewage, paint, irrigation material and supplies, road construction implements, building supplies, locomotive and railway supplies, Pullmans and freight cars, trucks and automobiles, school supplies, chemicals, furniture, shoes, sugar mills and supplies and street and road-building machinery.

CAPITAL NOT GREAT.

As all these imports are sold through agencies established here the amount of capital invested has not been great, although many of the concerns have behind them unlimited capital and are disposed to invest it in Mexico as soon as business demands it and the conditions warrant it.

There is more movement of money toward the north of Mexico than to the center and south. The State of Chihuahua, especially, through its active immigration agent, is making bids for foreign capital. There American lumber companies are active and great lumber concerns that were shut down during the revolution are already active again and are extending their interests and investing considerable capital.

Among some of the big concerns which have opened business here and are investing considerable capital are the Foundation Company of New York, and Austin Company of Cleveland and the Austin Company of Chicago. The former is going extensively into road construction, of which the governments of the federation and the States are doing a great deal. The latter companies are going extensively into the building of irrigation work and are also investing considerable capital in Mexico.

Two ocean lines have been established with considerable capital, which is being increased, and two railways have been largely built and equipped.

CAPITAL IS WAITING.

This makes practically the sum total of investments of American capital in Mexico within the last year. As will be readily seen it is necessarily comparatively small owing to the nature of the business represented and the medium through which the business is transacted, as compared with the activities of American capital in the latter years of the Diaz regime.

It is stated at the American Chamber that millions of American capital is waiting on the border to invade Mexico as soon as the proper assurances are forthcoming from the Mexican government that American interests and investments will receive proper protection and treatment.

The Mexican government apparently has at last awakened to this fact and also to a still more important fact, namely, that business conditions are not going to get any better in Mexico until these assurances are given.

JAPS CORNERING LUMBER MARKET

neers appointed to investigate flood conditions.

"While this explanation may or may not be correct, the fact remains that Pacific Coast timber is being shipped to Japan at an exhausting rate. A check has shown that during the first six months of the year a total of 90,850,834 board feet of lumber was shipped from Oregon, Washington and British Columbia to Japanese ports for Japanese consumption.

"An incomplete check of shipments from California indicates a large amount of timber was shipped during the same period.

MARKET CLEANED UP.

"Japan's buying has practically cleaned up the open market of cedar and the supply of hemlock has practically been absorbed in the trans-Pacific trade since the Japanese engineers discovered its adaptability for wood block paving both in street and factory use.

Japanese buyers also are eagerly buying up every available foot of port or ford cedar, which, because of its clean straight grain, is particularly adapted to the building of airplanes, and recently one cargo of 700,000 feet of port or ford cedar sawlogs was shipped from San Francisco to Japan.

TAKE OVER MILLS.

In many places the Japanese buyers have contracted for the entire output of mills, according to reliable information, and officials of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association declare the Japanese have succeeded in gaining control of many mills in the Northwest. In Vancouver it has been shown that a group of Japanese has been negotiating for several weeks to take over a large mill and operate it on its own account.

"Careful estimates have proved that Japan's annual lumber consumption approximates 1,000,000,000 feet. Should the order prohibiting cutting in Japanese forests continue for a number of years, it is easy to visualize the result on California's forests."

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE RECEIVED FROM POPE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The Knights of Columbus tonight made public the following Christmas message from Pope Benedict XV:

"The extensive Christmas-tide charity of the Knights of Columbus is typically American and worthy of all commendation. We view with utmost satisfaction the decision of the Knights of Columbus to do welfare work in Italy. May the blessings of the season rest bountifully upon the generous American people."

ARMS PARLEY IN NUTSHELL.

"Times" is Issuing Special Edition Weekly on Historical Conference.

Every Friday during the Disarmament Conference now in progress in Washington The Times will reprint from its daily issues a special illustrated four-page edition giving all the important developments of the history-making parley of nations for the week preceding. The first was issued Friday, November 18.

The Times has arranged for exhaustive reports on the proceedings of the conference to be written by experts of international reputation. These reports, which are those appearing daily in The Times, will be conveniently arranged and edited and will all appear in this weekly summary of the conference without the interpolation of other extraneous news matter. For the many persons who desire to preserve a complete record of this peace parley of the world powers, incomparably the most important one in history, these special editions will be of immense value.

The four-page sheets will not be included in the regular editions of The Times, but are on sale at the Los Angeles main and branch offices of The Times at the nominal price of 5 cents, or will be mailed to any address on receipt of that sum in stamps. They will be furnished free to any schoolteacher on application.

WORKING FOR WORLD PEACE.

world that has not been settled in the end in that way.

"You have a war; you destroy millions of men and measureless treasure, and then you gather about a table and settle it. I have a feeling that mankind has become wise enough to sit down before the war and try to settle it. And that is the object of the four-party treaty. That is why I say the small lack of agreement in construing it is not significant.

WHERE IS MENACE?

"Why if there was a menace to peace in Japan, what objection could there be for the United States to sit down with her friend in the Orient, and with the other great powers and discuss how the matter could be adjusted? If some one had done that when Austria was threatening Serbia, there would have been no European war.

"The whole purpose of this conference is to provide some means where just, thoughtful, righteous peoples, who are not seeking to seize something which does not belong to them, can live peaceably together and eliminate causes of conflict. This is in the American heart and it is in the British heart and it is in the Japanese heart and in the French and Italian heart—it is everywhere in the world.

"If this present-day civilization cannot take advantage of this new realization of that emphasized conviction, I would not give much for the civilization of the future. But there is a new spirit seeking and impelling peace, and it must add to our Christmas happiness."

OGDEN (Utah) Dec. 23.—There were two men in the robbery of Oregon Short Line passenger train No. 7, on the afternoon of August 31. Then the two bandits boarded the train and proceeded to rob the passengers in a leisurely manner, leaving the train as it entered the yards at Salt Lake City.

Acquittal of Negro Stirs U.S. Attorney

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—John T. Williams, United States Attorney, announced today that he had notified the Department of Justice at Washington by telegraph and would lay before the Federal grand jury circumstances surrounding the recent acquittal of Lester Mapp, negro proprietor of the Olympia, a Barbary Coast resort, on a white slave charge.

Through his attorney, Mapp offered to plead guilty, Williams said, on condition of being assured of a fine instead of a jail sentence. On refusal, according to Williams, Mapp pleaded not guilty and called five policeman as witnesses, who said the reputation of Mapp and his cafe was good.

a gun which the American Army was expected to use although he contended that the plans were impracticable and that he was "trying to play a Yankee trick" on the diplomatic agent.

Joseph Schur, formerly a practicing attorney at Indianapolis, and Maurice L. Snitkin were two cases coupled in President Harding's commutations, both men having been involved in a conspiracy to sell exemptions to young men who had been summoned for Army service in New York. Each was sentenced to six years in prison, but were released on paroie August 25.

WILL DEPORT ASHLEIGH.

Among the I.W.W. prisoners released was Charles Ashleigh, a writer of poetry and speaker who has served two years of a ten-year term and will be deported to his native country, England. Giovanni Baldazzi of Chicago, who was manager of Il Proletario, an Italian paper conducted by the I.W.W., was also released for deportation, although a fine of $30,000 had been added by the court to his ten-year prison sentence. These were the only two members of the organization who had attained any prominence to obtain release, it was said.

Wilhelm Schumann, a German Lutheran minister at Pomeroy, Iowa, was convicted of having preached a sermon during the war urging punishment for all enemies of Germany and his release was ordered today.

Malick Fieron, formerly an officer in the Austrian army, who was convicted at Detroit of obstructing the Selective Service Act and sentenced to twenty years, was given his final release by the list, President Wilson having acted previously to reduce the sentence to five years.

TWO FARMERS FREED.

Among the miscellaneous cases were those of two Oklahoma farmers who joined early in the war in a general rebellion against the Selective Service Act, which was quickly suppressed. Gustave H. Jacobsen of Chicago, also named for release, aided a conspiracy during the war to raise a native rebellion against British rule in India, in so far as he allowed his house to be used for a meeting place by those concerned, but the statement issued today said he was "not shown to have been in reality an enemy of the United States."

Jack Law, another member of the I.W.W. convicted at Chicago in 1918, the summary said, represented "one of the cases wherein it is earnestly claimed by many persons that there was no evidence at the trial to show that the applicant was guilty of any disloyal act, during the war."

In making the announcement of the executive action today, President Harding pointed out the outset that he had no comment to make on the Debs case and this was interpreted as meaning that no action was forthcoming in regard to the former Socialist leader at this time. Within a few minutes, however, the complete list was made available to the newspaper correspondents and disclosed that Mr. Debs's release had ben authorized.

ANNOUNCED BY HARDING.

The commutations and pardons were announced personally by President Harding who took the action in accordance with the custom of extending clemency to Federal offenders at the Christmas season.

The five soldiers given full pardons are Carl J. Bryan, James A. O'Della, Roy Youngblood, George Van Glider and J. B. Richardson, all serving life terms to which they were sentenced while with the American Army on the Rhine, for the alleged killing of George Lancefield, a former British officer.

Other prisoners released included Orville Anderson, convicted at Deadwood, S. D., Oct. 5, 1918, under the espionage law, and sentenced to four years; David T. Blodgett, convicted at Des Moines, Iowa, and serving twenty years on charges of opposing the Selective Service Act, who is now in St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane for observation.

Others given commutation were John L. Murphy, sentenced to five years at Sacramento, Cal., under the Espionage Act; K. T. Kumbi, convicted at Oklahoma City and sentenced to six years for violation of the Espionage Act; Thomas Carey, convicted at San Francisco for violation of the Espionage Act, serving a two-year sentence; Joseph M. Caldwell, convicted at Providence, R. I., for violating the Espionage Act, serving three years; Ed Hamilton, convicted at Chicago, Aug. 30, 1918, and sentenced to ten years under the Espionage Act; William J. Hear, sentenced at Sioux Falls, S. D., in 1917, for violation of the Espionage Act.

OTHERS SET FREE.

Walter Phillips, convicted at Oklahoma City for hindering the selective service law, and sentenced to ten years, though he was released on parole Jan. 10, 1921, by President Wilson.

Joseph Prado, sentenced to two years for bringing aliens into the United States unlawfully in time of war. Albert B. Prashner, sentenced to ten years in 1918, after conviction at Chicago for violating the Espionage Act; Wilhelm Schumann, convicted at Fort Dodge Iowa, under the Espionage Act, and sentenced to five years.

Anthony J. Stopa, sentenced to twenty years after conviction at Detroit on charges of obstructing enlistments, and H. L. Trelease, convicted at Fargo in 1919, of espionage law violation and sentenced to two years.

CONVICTED BY SPEECH.

Debs, who several times was a candidate for President, was convicted on three counts growing out of his alleged obstructionist activities during the war, but when his appeal reached the Supreme Court that tribunal acted only upon one—that dealing with interference with recruiting, which the government charged resulted from the speeches of the Socialist leader.

Utterances which resulted in Debs's conviction were contained in a speech at Canton, O., June 16, 1918. Debs offered no evidence in his defense and made his own address to the jury in the trial at Cleveland in September, 1918, when Federal Judge Westenhaver pronounced sentence Debs's only statement was that "all will work out well in God's own good time."

Friends of Debs began immediately a fight to save him from prison, but appeals to the Supreme Court failed twice. On April 13, 1919, he was taken to Moundsville, W. Va., prison, there to begin his sentence. Two months later he was transferred to the Federal prison at Atlanta.

Debs's friends did not despair. Appeal after appeal was made to President Wilson, but he turned a deaf ear, saying that to release Debs would be to impair seriously the morale of the people. Attorney-Gen. Palmer sent to the President a recommendation for the pardon of Debs, but Mr. Wilson again declined.

BROTHER AWAITS RELEASE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ATLANTA (Ga.) Dec. 23.—Expectation that Eugene V. Debs would be released today from the Atlanta Federal penitentiary, brought his brother, Theodore Debs, David Karster, New York Socialist, and others to Atlanta, but at the penitentiary early tonight it was said no official word had been received, while Washington dispatches said the prisoner would be released Christmas Day.

Debs had said some time ago that when he did leave the prison he expected to go directly to his home in Terre Haute, Ind., and make his future plans there after a reunion with his family and probably some of his close friends. He was convicted in 1918 of violation of the war-time espionage laws and was transferred to Atlanta in 1919, where he has remained with the exception of a trip to Washington last spring. That trip was made at the invitation of Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, and Debs, having given his word to return here, made the trip alone.

Prior to his imprisonment, Debs had lectured throughout the country between his campaigns as head of the national Socialist ticket and, asked, recently if he intended to resume the lecture platform, he replied he might, but he would not make his plans until he went home.

So far as could be learned, no demonstration in his behalf was planned on his release here, but a group of friends, including his brother, his local attorney and others were ready to welcome him and to arrange for his trip home. Not even his brother saw him today, however, and J. E. Dych, warden at the penitentiary, reiterated tonight that no word had come from Washington. The order for Debs's release would come by mail, if it followed the ordinary procedure and it was expected it would reach Atlanta some time late Saturday.

SOCIALIST COMMENTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Otto F. Branstetter, executive secretary of the Socialist party, in a statement issued tonight on the release of Eugene V. Debs from the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, asserted that public sentiment for his release had grown so strong that the administration "could not much longer fail to do this act of simple justice." Terming the release of Debs a "grudging concession to a demand which was becoming too strong to be longer resisted" the statement deplores the fact that all prisoners convicted for alleged violation of the Espionage Act were not released.

The statement follows:

"We are naturally gratified but not surprised at the release of Eugene Debs at this time. The increasing emphasis in the demand by organized labor and the growing sentiment among all classes for his release, made it certain that the administration could not much longer fail to do this act of simple justice.

"The Socialist party regrets that Mr. Harding could not see his way clear to release all other political prisoners at the same time. His failure to do so makes the release of Debs and a few others appear as a grudging concession to a demand which was becoming too strong to be longer resisted. It would have been a fine thing if Mr. Harding had been big and liberal and patriotic enough to have gone beyond what he considered the actual demand and granted executive clemency to all prisoners convicted for alleged violation of the Espionage Act. The release of Mr. Debs will not lessen the interest or the activity of the Socialist party in the agitation for the release of all political prisoners and the re-establishment of civil liberty in America."

CAREY WAS "PATRIOT."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—Thomas Carey, whose sentence was commuted today by President Harding, was convicted with five other members of an organization known as the "American Patriots" of conspiracy to obstruct the government's war program. Two of them have completed their terms, two others already had their sentences commuted by President Wilson, while Daniel O'Connell, head of the group, is still in prison.

MURPHY AN I. W. W.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23.—John L. Murphy, whose sentence was commuted today by President Harding, was convicted here in June, 1918, before U. S. Dist. Judge Bledsoe. She and Dr. Frank T. Howenstine, an optometrist, also convicted were charged with violation of the Espionage Act in that they enabled men to avoid the draft.

The evidence showed they did this temporarily by injuring their eyesight with drugs and eyeglasses so that they would be rejected in the physical examinations.

The evidence also showed Dr. Howenstine and Mrs. Kennedy were German sympathizers after the declaration of war by this nation. One witness quoted Mrs. Kennedy as having decried the Red Cross and the American soldiers "who deserve what they are going to get" at the hands of the Kaiser's troops.

GIVEN ELEVEN YEARS.

Mrs. Kennedy was sentenced to serve eleven years in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $5000. Mrs. Kennedy appealed the case and was released on $45,000 bond. Her husband, Franklin H. Kennedy, a business man, was said to be wealthy. The Circuit Court of Appeal affirmed the judgment of the lower court.

Later President Wilson commuted the sentence to three years in an asylum for the insane, but did not cancel the fine.

Mr. Howenstine was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary at McNeil Island. An attempt also was made to have his sentence commuted.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL GETS MUCH ADVICE, BUT MOST OF IT IS BAD, HE SAYS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Enough advice, most of it bad, has been offered Atty.-Gen. Daugherty since he assumed office, he said tonight in a Christmas greeting to the public, to last him "until the end of my term, whether it be long or short." The majority of the counsel proffered, he said, "was of such character that the person offering it would not himself do as he advises me to do if he were in my position."

Mr. Daugherty's statement contained injunctions which, he said, were "stated for the consideration of all who may read, regardless of their station in life." Several of them follow:

"If a man does the right thing he will have the help and approval of those who know him, and if he does not do the right thing he does not deserve it."

"The world never turns against a man until after he has turned against the world, and it is never too late to wake up."

"A man owes society, his country and the world more than it owes him and more than he can ever pay."

"If one has self-respect, he will not go far wrong."

"If one respects others, he will do them no injury either in person or property."

"In this country one man has the same freedom and the same rights as another."

"Every man owes the same degree of loyalty to his country and the same obligation to society."

"To all mankind," Mr. Daugherty concluded, "I wish a happy, healthful and hopeful Christmas time. Let us hold up our heads and be of good cheer. Let us love God and be grateful. Let us obey the laws of our country and let us obey the Ten Commandments."

port rail rates applying to shipments carried on American vessels.

(5.) Additional compensation for officers and crew in the merchant marine enrolled in the naval reserve.

It is expected that the final recommendations will be completed in time for submission to Congress by President Harding about the middle of January.

BONUS LEGISLATION.

Soldiers' bonus legislation, if enacted at this winter's session of Congress, may not embody any specific plan for raising the necessary funds.

So chaotic is the situation that Representative Mondell of Wyoming, Republican leader of the House, said today he is not prepared to say whether bonus legislation will be included in the program for the present session. The House leaders with the exception of Representative Fordney of Michigan, chairman of the ways and means committee, have been disposed to wait until President Harding considers the financial condition of the government such as to warrant the enactment of this legislation.

Influential Republicans of the House generally realize that sentiment throughout the country for bonus legislation is so strong that it cannot be long delayed. Many of these members believe that legislation will be enacted at the present session, even though President Harding does not approve the plan it.

LOAN IDEA.

If legislation providing for the adjustation is passed, but no provision for the payment of the bonus, it will provide upon the theory that foreign loans will be available in time to meet it. It seems certain that no provision for the funding of the bonus will be made available at the present session, however, it is reported that plans have been already advanced to provide for Congress to take up their successful

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin has served notice that he will fight the sales tax to the last ditch, and Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, the other hand, has indicated that he is willing to the sales tax to be used as a means of raising the soldiers' bonus if all other means of revenue were defeated. The majority of the members of the Senators have indicated their approval of a sales tax, but the consideration of the bill a majority of the committee was shown to be against the tax.

The Congressional leaders agree that the payment of soldiers' bonus is necessary on light wines and beer to help receive serious consideration.

LOAN INTEREST.

If legislation providing for alternative plans for adjusted compensation is passed, but without provision for the raising of revenue, it will probably be predicated upon the theory that interest on foreign loans will become available in time to supply the fund. It seems certain that negotiations for the funding of foreign loans will not be completed in time to make available exact information relative to the program for funding interest payments. The negotiations, however, may be sufficiently advanced to make it possible for Congress to take a definite step in their successful conclusion.

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin has served notice that he will fight the sales tax to the end. Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, on the other hand, although opposed to the sales tax in general, has indicated that he might accept it as a means of raising funds for the soldiers' bonus if all other sources of revenue were exhausted. The Congressional leaders agree that the proposal that a soldiers' bonus be raised by a sales tax on light wines and beer will not receive serious consideration.

Cairo Rioting is Stopped by British Troops

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CAIRO (Egypt) Dec. 22.—Cairo bristled with police and troops last night following disturbances in connection with the forcible removal to Suez early today of Saad Zagloul Pasha, a Nationalist leader. His removal followed his refusal to obey an order that he and his chief followers cease political activity and leave Cairo.

Although much wanton destruction occurred, the authorities claim that the incident is relatively unimportant and that conditions appear to have been defined to Cairo. Reports today were that everything was quiet in the neighboring provinces.

QUESTIONS STATEMENT.

The French admiral questioned Lord Lee's statement that Germany had constructed 320 submarines during the war and generally had only ten in service at one time. The French estimated, he said, that Germany had from 80 to 100 completed submarines "which are still in existence," and of that number kept fifteen or twenty at sea at once because of the necessity of resting crews and refitting boats. He pointed out that the American proposal of 90,000 tons in submarines for Great Britain and the United States meant ninety submarines "of a future type" of 1000 tons and probably fifteen or twenty "capable of simultaneous action."

"This seems indeed the minimum submarine strength a power desirous of making use of this contrivance should have," he said.

"We are convinced that the idea of large-sized submarines could not be dismissed. If you impose too narrow a limit on submarine tonnage, you will obstruct the progress of submarine science.

CANNOT BE LIMITED.

"To draw a conclusion from the foregoing, I think we cannot reasonably limit submarine tonnage, since we have before us an entirely new weapon concerning which no one of us can foresee the possible transformation and growth, perhaps in the near future. If in spite of this idea—which is a menace to no one . . . you wish absolutely to fix a limit to submarine tonnage, I believe that 90,000 tons is the absolute minimum."

In answer Balfour said he wished the American advisory committee could have heard the "speech of the gallant admiral who has just sat down," before drawing up its report.

"The committee concluded that destruction of commerce by submarines was not the main business of submarines and that regulations could prevent inhumane employment of U-boats, he pointed out. While Admiral DeBon had condemned inhumane use of submarines, he added, "it was the action of submarines upon merchant ships which he regards as on the whole the most important use of which that weapon of maritime warfare can be put."

ABUSE OF POWERS.

"If they are once let loose to deal with merchantmen," Balfour said, "it is incredible that in the stress of war their powers will not be abused in the future as they have been so grossly abused in the past."

"I do not in the least nor unduly minimize the utility of submarines for genuine war purposes," Baufour said, "but I cannot help thinking that Admiral DeBon has exaggerated it. I can assure him that he is in error in supposing that the immunity from attack enjoyed by the German coasts was, in the least degree, due to their submarines. I speak with knowledge and authority on that subject. Neither do I believe that you will find that submarines on the whole are any defense against a sudden attack by a ship or war upon an undefended coast town. That is, I believe, one of the objects which the Italian delegation thinks can be performed by submarines, but I very greatly doubt it."

"You talk of the submarine as if it were, by nature," Balfour said, "something that encouraged defense and discouraged attack. It is nothing of the kind.

BESTOW BLESSING.

"The fact that you are going to allow and give your general blessing to submarines—at least so I gather—puts it in the power of every state that has a seaboard at all to make itself a formidable, aggressive enemy. Italy has five maritime neighbors in the Mediterranean. I hope and believe that peace, eternal peace, will begin in those waters and in those ancient homes of civilization. But we are considering these matters from, as it were, the could and calculating view of a member of a general staff.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Dec. 23. — No clew has been found concerning the reason for yesterday's explosion in the material yard of the highway department.

A National Guard investigation has been ordered, and the police are looking for clews.

ARBUCKLE TRIAL MAY BE DELAYED.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY HINTS AT EARLY REQUEST FOR POSTPONEMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—Dist.-Atty. Brady announced today that the police court hearing of the perjury charge against Mrs. Minnie Neighbors of Los Angeles growing out of the Arbuckle trial might necessitate postponing the opening of the second trial of Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter from January 9, although he was ready to proceed on that date if necessary.

The first information that a postponement might take place came in a statement by Police Judge Jacks in court today that Brady had told him that he would not be ready to proceed January 9. Brady explained that he had told Judge Jacks he was ready to proceed, if necessary, but that a postponement might be advisable.

Gavin McNab, chief counsel for Arbuckle, said today he did not wish any delay, and would be ready for trial on January 9.

The charge against Mrs. Neighbors resulted from contradictions by other witnesses of her testimony that Miss Virginia Rappe visited Wheeler Hot Springs in Ventura county in the month of August, 1921. Rebuttal testimony by the prosecution in the Neighbor hearing will be resumed after the holidays.

VISITED DEATH HOUSE.

Cousin of Woman Sought in Seattle Murder Tells of Going to Dead Man's Home With Relative.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Dec. 23.—Mrs. Anna Clark of Seattle, a cousin of Mrs. Clara Skarin Winborn, whom police all over the West are seeking in connection with the death of Ferdinand Hochbrunn, wealthy realty broker here, today told the detective department in Seattle that she visited Hochbrunn's apartment with Mrs. Winborn some time between November 10 and 27.

The authorities estimate that Hochbrunn had been dead about two months when his body was found in the apartments Wednesday. He had been shot in the back of the head.

Mrs. Clark, according to her statement, visited the rooms at the suggestion of Mrs. Winborn. The latter was the ward of Hochbrunn and had lived in his apartment. Mrs. Clark said she and her 3-year-old son accompanied Mrs. Winborn to the apartment. The cousin said Mrs. Winborn went to see if there were light and water bills to be paid, also to get some keys for Hochbrunn's attorney. Hochbrunn was represented to be in California.

They did not go into the room where Hochbrunn's body was found. Mrs. Clark added. She said she noticed the bed clothes on Hochbrunn's bed were disarranged.

"Clara got the keys and we left," explained Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. Jennie Chedotal, downstairs tenant of Hochbrunn, in a statement to the police, quoted Hochbrunn as having told her Clara was going away.

"I'm glad that girl is leaving," she said Hochbrunn added.

Search for Mrs. Winborn today overshadowed previous efforts of the police to find a man passing as Hochbrunn and believed to have collected rentals from Hochbrunn's properties after his death.

Ellis Island Gates Swing Open at His Orders.

Aliens Promise to Return in Ninty Days.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Two gates of Ellis Island swung open late today freeing more than 1000 aliens, detained under the immigration quota law, so that they might spend Christmas with friends and relatives in the land of promise.

HOLIDAY LIBERTY.

They will be at liberty for ninety days, under an order issued in Washington today by Secretary of Labor Davis, but must return at the end of that time for deportation, unless promised attacks on the constitutionality of the restrictive law have borne fruit, or the government decides to make more exceptions in their cases.

The order arrived shortly after 3 o'clock and two hours later 200 of the aliens had packed their belongings and left the island. Others departed before night, all employees at the immigration station working to help the aliens get away. Immigration Commissioner Tod said all of them would be released by tomorrow evening.

Hungarians, Poles and Greeks outnumbered other races in the laughing, happy swarms that signed the necessary papers and ran with expectant gaiety toward the ferries that brought them to New York and to railway terminals on the Jersey shore.

Many of the foreigners immediately boarded trains that would take them to loved ones in the West. Others landed at the Battery, and scattered to the various foreign colonies in the polyglot metropolitan area.

ALIENS DELIGHTED.

The cheerful tidings from Washington came so unexpectedly that the delight of the aliens became almost a frenzy. Many had been in downcast spirits at the prospect of a penned-in Christmas followed by deportation from the land to which they had come with high hopes.

Each was released on his or her own bond, all agreeing to make arrangements for passage back home at the end of the ninety days stay on American soil.

Commissioner Tod said he did not know the motive for Secretary Davis's release order nor the plans of the government regarding ultimate disposition of the men and women freed today.

Under the law, most of them would not be admissable until the fiscal year opening next July. None of them should have been brought to this country, Commissioner Tod said, placing the blame for their condition on the steamship companies.

WIFE HAS RIGHT TO TAKE CASH.

Not Robbery to Loot Pockets of Husband Declares Bay State Judge.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MALDEN (Mass.) Dec. 23. Judge Charles M. Bruce, in the Municipal Court today, ruled that women are justified in helping themselves to money from their husband's pockets. "It has been the inalienable right of women from the beginning of time to take money from their husband's pockets," he said, in finding Alphonso De Esco guilty of assault on his wife Lena.

NEW SEMIOFFICIAL BOARD AUTHORIZED.

TO FORMULATE POLICIES FOR INTERCHANGING GOVERNMENT WORKERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A new semiofficial communication, to be designated as the Federal personnel board, has been authorized by President Harding in an executive order on recommendation of Budget Director Dawes, and will have general responsibility for improving the service and economy of employment methods in government department. Its members will be officials from the various bureaus and independent establishments, and it will function under direction of the Civil Service Commission.

The board, the executor said, would be expected to formulate policies and plans for interchanging employees between one bureau and other, when emergency work requires enlarged forces, for maintaining a special force of employees on part-time assignments in different departments; for training individuals to special fitness for certain service and for facilitating promotions to higher grades for properly qualified persons.

Each child was presented with some fruit and a small gift in accordance with a custom established by the colonel years ago.

Owing to the inability of Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, to leave Washington, where he is engaged in the work of the Disarmament Conference, the usual Roosevelt family reunion will not take place this Christmas.

NEW KOHL WILL FILED IN COURT.

Testament Antedating One Given for Probate Day Before is Made Record.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

REDWOOD CITY, Dec. 23. — Admission to probate here yesterday of the will of C. Fred Kohl, San Francisco clubman and capitalist, made in 1920, was followed here today by the filing of a previous will of Kohl's dated Oct. 3, 1917, by Frederick S. Moody, who said he did not intend to contest the later will but merely filed the earlier document to get rid of it. He was bequeathed $50,000 under the 1917 document, but was not mentioned in the 1920 testament.

Mrs. Marion Louderback Lord of New York, who was bequeathed $250,000 and the residue of the estate after other bequests had been made in the will probated yesterday, was not mentioned in the 1917 document, which provided for a $350,000 gift to the University of California for a hospital in memorial of Kohl's parents, an item not included in the 1920 will.

Kohl committed suicide at Delmonte Lodge in November. His estate is valued at from $1,000,000 to $4,000,000. Both wills contain a separation agreement signed by Kohl and his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Kohl. Under the 1920 will she was to get $12,000 a year for life or until remarriage, or else a flat sum of $250,000, while the 1917 will gave her the choice between the $12,000 a year and the interest on a $360,000 trust fund.

MEXICO TO CHANGE ALL CLOCK FACES.

HOURS AFTER FIRST OF YEAR WILL BE NUMBERED FROM ONE TO TWENTY-FOUR.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GUADALAJARA (Mex.) Dec. 23.—These are busy times for sign painters and watchmakers in Mexico. In order to comply with a new decree issued by President Alvaro Obregon, ordering that the hours be counted from one to twenty-four, the numerals or Roman character upon all the timepieces in the country will have to be changed. The decree is effective January 1. While it is not required that the private owners of watches and clocks change the marks of the hours, this will have to be done by all persons who are in public or railroad employment. All clocks upon churches, city halls and other buildings must have their faces so changed as to read from one to twenty-four. This work is now in progress and many sign painters are employed in doing it. Railroad men are having watchmakers change the marks upon the faces of their watches. Large orders have been placed by jewelers for watches and clocks of the new type.

No explanation was given by President Obregon as to why this change was decided upon. It is said that he was told that in France and other countries of Europe the timing of the day from one to twenty-four hours is found to be more satisfactory than the system which is followed in the United States and Mexico. The only protests so far made to the new decree has come from jewelers who declare that it will work heavy financial losses to them as they have on hand large stocks of clocks and watches which will have to have their faces remarked in order to be salable. In many instances this change cannot be made, it is claimed.

ACCUSED MURDERESS SAID TO BE INSANE.

SLAYER OF NEW YORK DOCTOR CLOSELY WATCHED AFTER REPORT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Upon receipt of a report from Dr. Charles Stoerzer, visiting jail physician, that Mrs. Lillian Raizen, under indictment for the murder of Dr. Abram Glickstein, Brooklyn dentist, has manifested suicidal tendencies, Asst. Dist.-Atty. Cooper tonight ordered the woman kept under strict surveillance.

This action followed the application by Mrs. Raizen's counsel earlier in the day for appointment of a commission to inquire into her sanity. Four alienists employed by the defense reported that she was mentally unbalanced now, and when the crime was committed. If the commission should find her insane she would be committed to a State institution without facing trial on the charges against her.

Dr. Stoerzer suggested that the woman be immediately transferred to the psychopathic ward for her own safety.

LARGE LIQUOR RING EXPOSURE IS MADE.

THREE MEN ARRESTED AFTER ATTEMPTED BRIBERY OF OFFICIAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. — Exposure of one of the most thoroughly organized liquor rings ever operated in Chicago was accomplished here today, according to Federal prohibition agents, following the arrest of three men and the confiscation of twenty-one barrels of whisky.

The liquor ring was brought to light, according to Federal authorities, when an attempt was made to bribe Col. A. U. Earnshaw, chief of the intelligence unit of the revenue department. A fund of $100,000 had been raised for bribery purposes and $300,000 for the purchase of the entire product of three distilleries in Kentucky, Col. Earnshaw said he was told. He said he was offered $65,000 to allow the plan to proceed.

EARLY ASSISTANCE FOR VETERANS URGED.

LEGION HEAD SUBMITS PLAN TO RELIEVE FINANCIAL WORRIES OF DISABLED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Following a visit to the Drexel Hospital for disabled ex-service men today, Col. MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, sent a message to Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the War Veterans' Bureau at Washington, submitting a plan for lessening the financial worries of disabled soldiers.

"The Christmas spirit of peace and good will finds in virtually every hospital used by your Veterans' Bureau, war-disabled men who are not only physically injured, but whose mental worries over financial difficulties, growing out of unadjusted compensations, prevent or retard their recovery," his message said.

"The clean-up campaign conducted by your bureau has left those cases of long standing awaiting definite decision and rating. To cheer and reassure these men at this Christmas time the American Legion submits to you the following plan for immediate action in the disposal of these neglected or suspended cases.

"The plan is simply the immediate appointment in each regional district of boards composed of necessary personnel with one member invested with authority to make bedside decisions, and definitely establish ratings."

In an address at the hospital, Col. MacNider cited several cases where he said recovery was made impossible because of financial worries. This is the thirty-ninth hospital Col. MacNider has visited since being elected Legion head.

GRAND OPERA SHOWS BIG YEARLY DEFICIT.

NEED HALF MILLION YEARLY GUARANTEE, CHICAGO PEOPLE TOLD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. — Grand opera can be maintained in Chicago "on its present brilliant artistic scale at a deficit of less than $500,000 a year," a statement issued by Clark A. Shaw, acting business manager, said tonight following a meeting of the board of directors of the Chicago Opera Association. The future of grand opera in Chicago rests with its citizens, the statement said, and announced that the executive committee will proceed with the completion of a five-year guarantee project launched some time ago.

This plan includes the signing of $500,000 in annual guarantees for a period of five years against possible deficits. Of this amount, the statement said, $246,000 annually has been signed for the entire period.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, who have made up the deficits in large part in previous years, announced a short time ago that they would not take the responsibility in the future.

San Francisco Woman Tells Remarkable Facts

Says She Could Scarcely Eat Anything

Never Felt Better in Her Life Than Now

"Just think, for four years my sufferings were simply terrible, but in a few weeks after taking Tanlac I am well and strong again and have gained nineteen pounds in weight," said Mrs. Thelma Zabek, Hotel Gordon, San Francisco, Cal.

"My wretched health was due to stomach trouble, and I got so I could scarcely eat anything, and what little I did manage to eat did me more harm than good. At times my heart beat so fast I was actually afraid some blood vessel would burst, and I had such awful headaches for days at a time I was kept in bed. I shudder even now when I think of them.

"I am a well woman now, and never felt stronger, better or happier in my life, and I would go a long ways to tell anybody who suffers like I did what I know Tanlac can do for them."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles by The Owl Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere. — [Advertisement.

DO YOU KNOW "WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME"

STAR'S EFFECTS BRING LITTLE.

Rare Antiques, Furnishings Go for a Song.

Mme. Lina Abarbanell and Husband Bankrupt.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. — Rare antiques, expensive furniture, exquisite bric-a-brac and sturdy articles of household utility brought little today at the auction in Evanston, of the furnishings in the home of Mme. Lina Abarbanell, opera star, and her husband, Edward Goldbeck.

Mme. Abarbanell and her husband, a former newspaper man, were forced to relinquish their home as a result of bankruptcy proceedings instituted against them to satisfy creditors.

The auctioneer worked hard in an effort to force a price on articles that were being bought up for almost nothing.

An antique Spanish cabinet, bearing on it a reproduction in oils of Raphael's "Madonna of the Chair," went for $12.50. A ten-piece mahogany bedroom set was purchased for $140.

ETCHING GOES CHEAP.

An original etching by Brahm brought only $4.50 and a pencil reproduction of Jozef Fadewski was sold for $5.75. Heavy linen sheets of homespun, embroidered with a "G" in each corner, the work of Mme. Abarbanell, were sold for $3.40.

A number of women present at the auction attempted to purchase without having the necessary 25 per cent to pay down. There were loud protests when the auctioneer refused to consider their bids and they departed angrily, after informing the auctioneer that their signatures were good for accounts to any amount.

Evanston society was expected to attend but was not there when the auctioneer mounted his stand. Instead, sophisticated sophomores from Northwestern University raised a bid now and then and indulged in humorous asides pertinent to an oil painting of the former German Kaiser. There also were expressions of interest in an autographed photograph of Pavlowa, the Russian dancer, and other expressions of disappointment that the grand piano of the former star of "The Merry Widow" was not to be seen.

Mme. Abarbanell is in New York, where it is said she has returned to the stage.

DISMISS INDICTMENT AS AUTOPSY RESULT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEVADA CITY, Dec. 23.—An indictment charging Gus Branch, pool hall proprietor of Truckee, with the murder of Mrs. Annie Boyle, was dismissed here yesterday on motion of the District Attorney. He stated that the report of the autopsy at Ogden, Utah, which led to the indictment, was discredited by Dr. Frank Bartlett, one of the physicians present, who was positive death was due to other causes than the beating alleged in the indictment.

Mrs. Boyle died at Truckee early in November, and the autopsy was asked by her mother, who had the body disinterred at Ogden.

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—President Harding expressed the opinion today that the International Conference on the Limitation of Armaments is making "the greatest contribution to peace and good will that has ever marked the Christmas time in all the Christian era."

Speaking for the British delegation, Mr. Balfour took up today in committee the fight for the abolition of the submarine, but was unable to convert the French and Italian delegates. The American attitude will be stated tomorrow by Secretary Hughes, who will support the views expressed by the American advisory committee yesterday.

The subcommittee studying the Chinese tariff problem has suspended its discussions until after the holidays.

Direct remuneration of American ship operators out of a fund amounting probably to $34,000,000 for the next fiscal year and establishment of a $100,000,000 merchant marine loan fund are among the features of the plan recently submitted by the committee of experts appointed by President Harding.

Soldiers' bonus legislation, if enacted this winter, may not embody any specific plan for raising the necessary funds.

DEATH PENALTY IS FOUND FOR SLAYER.

HARVEY CHURCH, MURDERER OF TWO, CONVICTED ON FIRST BALLOT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. — Harvey Church, charged with the murder of two automobile salesmen, was found guilty this morning and sentenced to death. Church killed the men, Carl Ausmus and Bernard Daugherty, when they delivered a car which he had arranged to buy.

The jury, which received the case last night, reached a verdict on the first ballot, being unanimous for death penalty.

Church, who is 21 years old, was arrested at Adams, Wis., his former home, a few days after the double murder. The body of Ausmus was dug up under the floor of the garage at the Church home here after Daugherty's body, with hands handcuffed and feet bound with ropes, was found in the Desplaines River.

Church, according to police, made three detailed confessions, telling how he had arranged to buy a $5000 automobile from the salesmen and then killed them with a baseball bat in the basement of his home when they delivered the machine.

The defense rested entirely on an insanity plea.

URGES HIGHER DUTY ON FOREIGN FILMS.

TWO OF FIVE OF COUNTRY'S FACTORIES NOW ARE CLOSED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. — Increased import duties on motion picture films, sensitized but not exposed, was urged before the Senate Finance Committee today by Charles H. Cole of Boston, speaking for the Bay State Films Company, Boston, the Eastman Kodak Company, the Ansco Company and the Powers Film Products, all of Rochester, N. Y.

The witness said foreign competition, largely German, already had resulted in closing two of the five film-making factories in the country.

In place of the 30 per cent ad valorem rate in the Fordney bill Mr. Cole asked for a specified rate of 3-4 cents a foot on positive films and 1 1-4 cents a foot on negative films. If specific rates are not granted he urged an ad valorem rate of 35 per cent on American valuation or 50 per cent on foreign valuation.

WORKS FOR PEACE IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

STATE DEPARTMENT ASKS SALVADOR AND HONDURAS TO BE GOOD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. — An effort on the part of the United States to preserve peace in Central America following the revolution in Guatemala, was disclosed today at the State Department.

Immediately after the outbreak in Guatemala City, which resulted in the overthrow of the Herrera government, the United States government addressed a note to Salvador and Honduras expressing the hope that peace would be preserved by them in accordance with the terms of their treaties with Guatemala. This note, it was said, was not intended as a coercive measure, but was merely an expression of the American government's desire for world peace.

Reports to the State Department recently from Central America have been reassuring, it was said today.

SANTA TO BE BUSY WITH CHICAGO GIFTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Santa Claus will distribute his gifts in Chicago from a $50,000,000 pack this Christmas. That, in the rough, is an estimate made by merchants of the city's total retail merchandise business for December. The share of this holiday trade garnered by the State-street stores, both large and small, is estimated at between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000.

In volume of business, this shopping season has broken all records, but will not measure up, dollar for dollar, with those of 1919 and 1920. The prime reason for this discrepancy in ratio is the reduction in prices over the two previous seasons, making it possible for the shopper to purchase a larger number of articles for less money. Buyers this year are spending their money more wisely, merchants say. They are looking for value, and there is a big demand for the substantial stuff.

LOSES NEW HUSBAND; ALSO HER BANKROLL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DETROIT, Dec. 23.—Mrs. Laura Carlson was proud, at first, of her Christmas week husband, regarded him a as fine present, but after little more than twenty-four hours of married life, she says he vanished. But, she declares, he provided for his Christmas Day celebration, because she has $900 less than he had before she was Mrs. Carlson.

Howard, that's the vanishing husband's name, may spend the Christmas in jail because the police began looking for him when they found the wife, alone and hungry, in a local hotel. She said he and she met at a dance in Chicago two years ago. They married at the home of a friend in that city Tuesday. They arrived in Detroit on their honeymoon Wednesday.

INFLATE BALL FROM SPARE TIRE, ARE SHOT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Dr. William Zuckermann, who was a lieutenant in the Medical Corps of the A.E.F., yesterday shot and dangerously wounded one of two boys whom he detected in the act of inflating a basketball with air from a spare tire in the rear of his sedan while it was standing in front of his office at 212 East Broadway.

The physician, who later was locked up on a charge of felonious assault, declared he thought the boys were trying to steal two spare tires on his car, but admitted that when he shot the boy he and his companion were running away without having disturbed the tire. The boy, Samuel Markham, 15 years old, was shot through the head.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MODESTO, Dec. 23.—Of forty-three foreigners applying for citizenship before Examiner C. A. Ball in Judge L. W. Fulkerth's court yesterday, twenty-six were granted their first papers, nine other cases continued until the first week in June, 1922, and eight were denied papers. All eight, who were denied their papers asked for exemption on the grounds of being aliens during the war.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WOULD FREE BROTHER WHO MURDERED WIFE.

APPEAL FOR LIBERTY MADE TO GOVERNOR BY MAN WHO LOST SPOUSE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23.—Brotherly love of the stamp that cannot be shaken even by the murder of a loved one asserted itself in the Governor's office late yesterday afternoon when George Mercurio of San Jose appealed to Henry Frazier, Gov. Stephen's executive secretary, for executive clemency for his brother, Tony Mercurio, who is serving a life term in San Quentin prison.

Two years ago, George and his brother and his mother told Frazier, Tony a youth of 21 years, became infatuated with George's wife, and when reprimanded killed her and attempted to end his own life. He was tried and sentenced to life imprisonment.

In appealing to Frazier yesterday for a commutation of his brother's sentence, George, who was left with four small children through the murder of his wife, declared that he believes his brother Tony was insane when he committed the crime. This view was shared by the mother of the two men.

FRESNO COUNTY MEN GET BIG JUDGMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—A judgment for $47,500 awarded in the Fresno county Superior Court to G. C. Fabry, and B. D. Vanderburgh against the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation and the Midland Counties Public Service Corporation was affirmed by the District Court of Appeals here today.

Fabry and Vanwerburgh, who are Fresno county men, charged that they suffered the damages sued for when grain belonging to them was accidentally set afire by a blow torch which had been tipped over by linemen employed by the defendant companies.

GETS VERDICT OVER EXTRACTED TOOTH.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Louis F. Adelson, vice-president of the Adelson Sons and Company, received a verdict of $13,750 from a jury before Justice McCook in the Supreme Court yesterday for alleged negligence in treatment by Dr. Harry M. Moss, a dentist.

Dr. Moss extracted a tooth from Adelson on March 8 last. It is alleged by Adelson in his suit that Dr. Moss failed to put a commonly used apparatus about the tooth as he was working on it. As a result, part of the root of the tooth fell down Adelson's windpipe and became a serious obstruction in his right lung.

NO AGREEMENT ON WAGES IS REACHED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OMAHA, Dec. 23.—Representatives of railway clerks and station employees and officials of the Union Pacific system failed to reach an agreement yesterday on a wage reduction proposal by the company, and the case will automatically go to the United States Railroad Labor Board, according to R. R. Butzer of Omaha, union representative.

The company, Mr. Butzer said, proposed a decrease of about $12 to $15 a month, and the employees countered with a proposal for an increase of approximately the same amount.

NEW YORK YOUTH IS KILLED BY DOCTOR.

SLAYER DECLARES HE BELIEVED BOY STEALING TIRE; ONLY BLOWING UP BALL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Dr. William Zukerman rushed from his office yesterday afternoon, drew an automatic pistol from his hip pocket and shot and killed 15 year old Samuel Markman, believing he had caught the boy and a companion in the act of stealing an automobile tire. As a matter of fact the lads had only tired to inflate a basketball with air from a spare tire on the physician's car.

The heavy bullet from the automatic passed completely through the Markman boy's head just under the top of the skull, broke a plate-glass window and narrowly missed a customer in a store across the street.

Detectives hearing the shot arrested Zukerman. Reserves from the police station had difficulty in protecting Zukerman from an indignant mob of several hundred persons. He will be arraigned in Essex Market court tomorrow.

BONDS OVERSUBSCRIBED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The $30,000,000 6 per cent bond issue of the American Sugar Refining Company was heavily oversubscribed yesterday. New England took the large share. The bonds were offered at 98½ and interest to yield about 6.14 per cent. Earl D. Babst, president of the company, said in a letter to bankers that the issue would constitute the sole funded indebtedness of the company.

An alarming condition among the American children, so school authorities say, is that one child in every three is undernourished. No, not a matter of being rich or poor—just lack of intelligence in the parents. The children may have plenty of food, but is it the right kind—the kind the body is craving, the kind the blood, the bone and the brain need for growth and energy? Milk, the foremost of nature's foods, should not be treated lightly. It should be used in some form at every meal. But make sure that milk is wholesome and sanitary by ordering from the Los Angeles Creamery. Have the children—and grown-ups, too—eat Los Angeles Creamery Cottage Cheese. Your bodies need it so get plenty from your grocer.

The sheer whiteness of beautifully ironed linens makes your table truly inviting. And no matter how precious your linens they may be confidently entrusted to the experts at the Crown Laundry. In fact all your clothes, no matter how dainty or fine, will be handled with the greatest of care and given just the attention each individual piece needs. Call South 945—23065 for the Crown Laundry's expert service.

That slice of bread-and-butter 'tween meals! Did bread at the table ever taste half so good? Don't scold the youngsters who can't wait for meals. It's nature's way of saying, "I'm growing; I need just lots and lots of bread." Make sure you have bread that's just right—in other words, Bear Bread—then leave it within the kiddies' reach so they can have all they want.

Add a sliced banana to the white of an egg and beat until stiff. The banana will be entirely absorbed and you will have a delicious substitute for whipped cream.

What preparation for the holiday cheer? You know the Clee Koe Coffee Co., 816 W. 4th, carries a big stock of "Cream-O-Malt" because the demand for it grows greater as the maker of home brew realizes how excellent it is. All the "fixin's," too, at the Clee Koe Coffee Co. They are right in the heart of the shopping district, too, by the way.

It's most as good as finding money—and you know what joy that is—to go into the Robert Deland Co., 415 So. Main, and select those long-wanted picture frames or prints—copies of the old masters—and then note the price. Instead of buying just one you'll decide, as everyone does, that you can afford all you need.

Your chimes will be lovely as ever when J. W. Champion has repaired them. He's an expert on all clock work. Call 871-873. Work called for and delivered.

"Where is this French Flower Shop whose exquisite hand-made flowers are being raved over?" You find it at 213 Byrne Bldg. They make up as a "very special" the most irresistible boutonnieres. Mrs. Pamers will sell for $1.50. Think of it!

Haven't years of experience taught you that sensible gifts at Christmas serve throughout the year to give pleasure—an almost daily reminder of the love which prompted the gift? Visualize the joy a waffle iron from the Golden State Electric Co., W. Seventh, would give, beginning that very day, such a remembrance would be useful. It's such fun to make waffles and serve them crisp at the table, too. The Golden State Electric Co. is conveniently located in the heart of the shopping district.

No disappointments, no chance for the vegetables ordered or meat asked for, being anything but fresh, for you took no chances, but called up one of Young's Markets and then gave the matter no further thought. Isn't it great to have markets absolutely reliable?

Make up your mind today whether you want all or just part of your Christmas dinner cooked at the Wilshire Kommunity Kitchen or just part of it. Then phone them or stop in—the address is: 212 South Western avenue.

Hard Sauce.

1-3 cup butter.
1 cup powdered sugar.
½ teaspoonful flavoring extract.

Cream butter until very light, add sugar very slowly, beating until light and creamy. Add flavoring and beat again.

In your homes do you eat Mc Donald's Roof Garden Chocolate, and drink it and cook with it? Because, if you do not you should and the reasons are legion! Let's mention the price first, for that is always an item to consider. McDonald's have reduced their chocolate to 25 cents, isn't that splendid? Chocolate is so nourishing for both young and old. Give your children hot chocolate in the mornings and at the bed-time meal, and you need never worry about their little bodies lacking sufficient calories, for in no time at all they will be as round and plump as butter balls.

The odor of onions can be removed from the hands or knife much more easily by washing in cold water instead of warm.

Have you never heard about the beautiful fresh Glacé fruit at the Grand Central Public Market, which is being sold for 55 cents a pound? Extremely reasonable as you know, also their gift baskets packed fresh every day are as appropriate and useful a gift as you can find anywhere's for after the delicious fruit is eaten you have the basket which will serve a hundred purposes.

A tough chicken can be made as tender as a young one by steaming for three hours before roasting or frying.

If you have always been accustomed to the best you aren't satisfied with a substitute, are you? Take in the matter of food Vignolo's, 177 N. Spring, are importers of the very finest delicacies obtainable. The European countries have all sent their contribution each being represented by the things peculiar to it. From Italy in time for the holiday season came Italian Fruit Cake, a most delicious concoction of fruits and nuts (no flour by the way) Germany sent hard cakes which we all remember as being a part almost of Christmas, then there is Torrone, Italian importation candy, to say nothing of mushrooms, anchovies, appetisers, relishes, and last but not least cordials (non-alcholic) the greatest assortment securable.

To remove tobacco stains from copper or brass ash trays, apply a little denatured alcohol with a brush.

What a lot of trouble we make for ourselves. We worry and fret about the acceptable gift for this one or that one and yet if we would only be sensible, visit a shop like that of F. Suie One at 969 W. 7th, and leisurely as well as pleasantly choose for young and old presents which suit the individual perfectly. They have gorgeous Chinese rugs, exquisite robes and kimonos, vases you can't duplicate any place else, baskets made with all the cunning of the East, and thus could one continue for hours expatiating on the beauties of this new abode of Chinese importations.

Christmas shopping during the rush is maddening. Buy home-made plum puddings and fruit cake from the Food Shop, 121 S. Western avenue for Christmas presents and avoid the crowds.

You know that paints and wall papers sold at the United Wholesale Paint Company, 639 S. Main, are absolutely reliable don't you? There now doesn't it stand to reason that anything they recommend is fine? Buy a can of the Frederick O'Brien One-Coat Automobile Varnish for your car and you will see how just like new it looks now.

Let's all "Give comfort for Christmas." Real philosophy in that thought, so go to the Eastern Outfitting Co., whose mammoth store so beautifully and appropriately decorated this year, is at 620 and 626 S. Main. The moment you step foot inside everything but your surprise and pleasure will be forgotten—now, if you do not find the solution to your troubles here at attractive prices, with the part payment system an added attraction, you are out of the ordinary, that's all!

Mora's "Specialty" Restaurant has been very recently opened, consequently many Times readers perhaps do not know that you may stop in and take home hot food for the evening meal. Especially now when Holiday Shopping keeps one downtown late, does this home of tempting Italian dishes such as Raviola, Tagliarina and Spaghetti come to your rescue, an eleventh-hour visit and—behold the dinner is carried home piping hot for "Hubby's" enjoyment as well as all of the family. 149 North Spring is the address.

When you read a recipe can you tell whether it is going to be good? Not always—so we will tell you that when we came across this recipe for cheese-cake we tried it out first thing, and it's so delicious and so entirely different you'll welcome it, we are sure: To one carton L. A. Creamery Cottage Cheese, add one-half cup sweet milk, three-fourths cup sugar, yolks of two eggs (beaten slightly,) juice and grated rind of one lemon, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Line muffin tins with pie crust, fill with mixture and bake until mixture is firm to the touch.

To prevent silver from tarnishing put a piece of camphor ice in the drawer with the silver.

There's no discounting the value of good looks. Those appetizing mounds of crisp salads topped by Jevne's golden mayonnaise both tempt the eye and add charm to any meal. And the nice part is they need no fuss or long preparation, for with a jar of Jevne's Mayonnaise on hand the making of a tempting salad requires but a few moments. With Jevne's Mayonnaise as a foundation one can just as quickly make sauce-tartare for fish or thousand island dressing for other salads.

Meat should never be put in the ice box when wrapped in paper, as the paper tends to absorb the juices.

They actually cut the glass right there—at the great Western Cut Glass Company, 320 W. 4th—and for that reason you can have any pattern you desire or fill in any set you have. While wandering among their beautiful display of glittering cut glass I thought what lovely gifts one could choose for Christmas, and at such reasonable prices that anyone can afford them.

Meats should be seasoned after being partly cooked. To salt before cooking destroys the flavor.

Instead of slaving long hours for nearly a week with your housecleaning, why not let the Acme Cleaners put your house all shipshape 'from cellar to garret" in one day? The Acme Cleaners are also specialists in waxing and polishing hardwood floors. Phone Pico 1650—you'll be glad you did.

"What could be sweeter than sofa white hands which are an undeniable indication of gentility." But the plaintive cry is heard on all sides, how bring about that which our heart most desires when the water on our hands are in so hard it tends to roughen the skin." One word is whispered, NOX-A-L-L is the pass-word. Don't say you haven't used it! This moment get in line for lo, Opportunity is knocking on your door and this time heed its advice.

Salt added to potatoes when nearly done insures mealiness and prevents their breaking apart.

"When planning your menu for Sunday you may stop with a thrill of pleasure when the dessert course is reached. 'Tis the easiest item of all, order Hughes Ice Cream. Either fresh Strawberry, Raspberry, Peach, Chocolate, Orange or a combination of flavors. There are so many to select from and all are equally delicious. Try the French Vanilla then serve with it thick chocolate sauce and a cooler more popular dessert couldn't be desired. Telephone orders direct to Hughes or the nearest dealer will always be expeditiously cared for, which, in itself is a satisfaction.

Yesterday a debutante, tomorrow a bride. A few weeks' honeymoon, then back to the new home and the thrill of preparing those meals just for two. Won't it be fun? And won't you be proud to start right off by making the "best coffee ever"? That's what "He" will say if you begin by ordering Jevne's coffee from your grocer. It's the finest grade of coffee and is roasted and blended by experts. Order Jevne's Coffee, and be sure.

"Hospitality made easy!" That's what you'll conclude when you discover the many ways the Elite has of aiding the hostess. Their salads and rolls, cakes and ices and candies are just the kind that everyone loves to serve. In fact, the Elite, 641 S. Flower—is a caterer "par excellence." And you'll find the dinners and luncheons and teas served at the Elite most delightful.

"Indeed, you may admire my new rag rug, for it was made for me by the Hoffman Rug Co., and delivered just in time to be an additional Christmas gift." If you want some really beautiful duff rugs as well phone these same people—West 2690. Their work is most satisfactory.

Isn't it strange the way we always retain a fondness for the old-fashioned chocolate creams like those made by Kahn-Beck, but which are known as Beck's Quality Arizona Chocolate Creams? You can always stop in at the drug store or almost any of the better confectioners and find plenty of these delicious fresh candies.

By calling West 1360 you will hear something of interest to you all, namely, how to rid your house of Ants later on.

Do consider Eagle Rock Lodge when trying to decide where to have a real "home cooked" Christmas dinner. Rosemary Drive, one block north of Sycamore.

EIGHTH SUSPECT JAILED IN POLICE MURDER CASE.

Sleuths Led by Prisoner Hunt for Last of Asserted Gang; More Confess, Aver Officers.

Another suspect, believed by the police to be an associate of the men who are charged with the slaying of Patrolmen William A. Brett and Harry Chester and who are now prisoners in the City Jail, was captured late yesterday afternoon in a trap set by the police.

The identity of the prisoner and his possible connection with the crime were withheld by the police pending the return of Detectives Erven, Raymond and Hickok of the Automobile Club of Southern California to Central Police Station from a hunt for J. P. Walters, alias Jake Wendell, alias James Ewing, who is sought as the last member of the gang accused of the officers' murder.

Walters was still at large last night while several posses of officers were on his trail. Confessions which the police say have been made by four of the suspects now held name Walters as an occupant of the outlaws' car.

J. P. Walters.

START OUT ON HUNT.

In an asserted confession, Cal Richards, alias Cal Rowell, and identified as the asserted leader of the gang, told the officers he would attempt to lead them to the hiding place of Walters. With Richards securely handcuffed to one of the officers, Detectives Erven, Hickok and Raymond, captors of the five men and two women already imprisoned, left in the afternoon in their quest for the fugitive.

During the absence of the detectives, another suspect, hitherto unmentioned by the prisoners, wandered into a trap set by the police at the room of Willard Thompson, the first suspect to be arrested, at 518 South Grand avenue. Twenty-four hours before, Cal Richards was similarly caught at the same place. Orders had been issued to arrest all men who ventured into Thompson's room.

When the suspect rapped on the door yesterday afternoon, the door flew open and he was confronted by Detective Sergeants Bean and Smith, who for two days had been secreted in Thompson's room.

The suspect refused to talk. He was taken to Central Police Station and held incommunicado until the return of Detectives Erven, Hickok and Raymond.

"SHOOT TO KILL."

"Shoot to kill" orders were issued yesterday to the officers detailed to capture Walters. That he is still hiding in Los Angeles with every avenue of escape closed to him is the theory of the police. The man hunt was spurred on by additional statements given to the detectives by the suspects now in jail.

Six men and two women were being held last night at Central Station. Four of the men are charged directly with being implicated in the slaying of the patrolmen. They are Willard Thompson, the first one arrested; William Bringhurst, accused by his pals of firing the shot that killed Officer Chester; Jim Wheaton and Cal Richards, asserted driver of the murder car and said to be the leader of the gang.

Two women, Mary White and Rhea Simpson, associates of two of the prisoners, and R. W. Pontius, a member of the gang, but who was not present at the killing of the officers, are held as material witnesses.

Pontius was arrested several days ago on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile from Arizona to California. Information which he furnished to the investigators led to the arrest of the other suspects and their implication in the slaying.

PRISONERS TALK.

All the first seven prisoners but one—William Thompson—according to the police, have issued statements connecting themselves with the crime. Early yesterday morning Wheaton made a written statement relating the details of the murder of the officers on the 6th inst. His statement substantiated one made previously by Pontius, and a written statement made to the police by Richards late yesterday afternoon was similar to that of Wheaton.

Richards named Bringhurst, known to the gang as Bill, as the man who killed Patrolman Chester. On the night of the 5th inst. Richards and Walters were in a Ford touring car and picked up Bringhurst, Wheaton and Thompson at Eighth and Hope streets. They went to Hollywood for the purpose of "pulling off a diamond job." They looked the place over and gave up the job. The principal parts of the statement follow:

"Let's go over on Stephenson avenue and look over a hardware store," said Bringhurst, "and for —— sake let's get something over there as I am broke and my wife is working and my little children have nothing for Christmas. We can probably get some guns, which Jim can sell."

The gang looked the store over, but a man on the opposite side of the street was watching them.

"We can't afford to go to jail," said Thompson. "If an officer should arrest us, we will stick them up and leave them."

START HOMEWARD.

The bandit car turned homeward. They passed a little furniture store.

"There are a lot of good rugs in there," said Walters. "Let's stop and look it over."

Then one of the men noticed that their car was being followed. Richards, the chauffeur, turned the car on Lorena avenue and started north. Two officers in a Ford car stopped them.

"What are you boys doing here?" asked one of the officers. "What is your business and where are you going?"

The officers decided to take them to the Police Station. One of the officers climbed into Richards's car and told the other officer to follow in his car.

"I went about two and a half blocks," Richards's statement continues, "when someone in the back seat shouted, 'Stop!'"

The car was stopped, and a scuffle started in the back seat. Walters grabbed the officer's gun and Bringhurst grabbed it out of his hand.

"Oh, don't do that," implored the officer as his own weapon was leveled at him.

"I turned around and the officer grabbed me by the arm," Richards said.

Then several shots were fired. Thompson jumped out of the car and shot at the other officer, according to the statement. His Richards's car, it was said. A bullet passed through Richards's cuff and shirtsleeve, the same garments he had on when he was arrested.

"As we were driving away," said Richards, "Bringhurst said, 'I killed the — — — — with his own gun! Let's beat it and get out of here. And the first — — — — that hollers I'll kill him!'

"'Bill, you didn't kill the officer, did you?' I asked, and he said, 'Well yes, I had to.'"

Then the gang scattered and Bill got out and buried the gun he had taken from the patrolman, it was stated.

Bringhurst also made a state-

Additional Compensation is Given by Many Concerns.

Thousands Will Participate in Christmas Division.

Payments Emphasize City's "White Spot" Position.

Marking this city as more than ever the "white spot" on the business map of the country, a large number of local business houses have announced that their employees are to participate in their prosperity this year through additional compensations, generally based on annual salary and length of service, and so timed as to add to the happiness of the Christmas season.

Following is a partial list of concerns which have announced that extra compensation is to be paid by them and the number of employees who are to participate:

BANKS DISTRIBUTE.

California Bank: Employees will receive extra compensation amounting to 10 per cent of their last month's pay multiplied by the number of months they have worked for the bank during the year 1921. This money will be distributed to all of the bank's 350 officers and employees.

Citizens' National Bank and the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank: A half month's salary will be given as a Christmas present to their employees. The Citizens' National has 209 employees and the Citizens' Trust and Savings has 180.

Commercial National Bank: Gave 5 per cent of the year's salary total to relieve the strain on the Christmas budgets of its fifty-five bank workers.

Continental National Bank: Plans the distribution of an extra half month's salary among its forty-two employees.

Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank: Will slip an additional month's wage into the pay envelopes of its 140 employees.

First National Bank and the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank: Have over 1000 bank workers in their employ, each one of whom will receive an extra half month's salary.

BASED ON SERVICE.

Bank of Italy: Will give 5 per cent of the yearly salary to its employees for extra Christmas money. Those who have been with the bank six years will receive 6 per cent, the seven-year men 7 per cent, and so on up to a maximum extra compensation of 10 per cent. There are 157 workers employed in the local branches of the bank.

Merchants' National Bank: Will follow its usual custom of giving cash Christmas compensation to its employees. This year the employees, 178 in number, will get 5 per cent of their year's salary.

Security Trust and Savings Bank: Will distribute among its 233 employees an extra month's salary.

Union Bank and Trust Company: Has given cash holiday compensation to its sixty-four employees, consisting of 5 per cent of their year's earnings. An additional dollar was given for every month the worker has been in the bank's employ.

United States National Bank: Gave its usual Christmas distribution of 50 per cent of the month's salary to its twenty employees.

WANTS TO HAVE PARENT HANGED

Son Fears Father Facing Trial for Murder.

Children Tell of Slaying of Their Mother.

Witnesses Help Fasten Crime on Man.

"Do you want to see your father hanged?" asked Attorney Fred Thompson yesterday of Boyd Thompson, 12-year-old school boy, during the hearing in Justice Brown's court of Peter Oscar Thompson, the father, accused of murdering his mother and his aunt.

"Yes," replied the youth quickly. "I have been afraid of him ever since this shooting."

In like manner Mrs. Norma Chiodo, daughter of the defendant, stood by her dead mother.

"Do you want to see your father hanged?" she was asked.

"I want to see him given justice," she replied.

WANTED HIS DEATH.

The daughter admitted on the stand that she had told a friend that she "wanted to see her father torn limb from limb" for the killing of her mother.

Thompson, the father, is accused of two counts of murder, the slaying of Mrs. Bertha Thompson, his wife, and Mrs. May Howard, his wife's sister, on the 5th inst.

Testimony adduced by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McDaniel indicated that at 6 o'clock that night Thompson, who was said to have been ordered away from his wife's home following the filing of a divorce action, secreted himself in a closet at the house at Los Angeles Harbor. It was asserted that he waited until 10:30 o'clock, when his wife went to the closet, and shot her.

SAW HIM SHOOT.

The daughter testified she saw her father shoot when her mother was wounded. The son testified he later saw his father shoot and kill his aunt, Mrs. Howard.

An attempt was made by the defense attorney to show that the son and daughter are biased against the father. The son testified that at one time he and a chum saw his father eating raw beefsteak and he said to his chum, "There, he's just like a dog; he eats raw meat."

He admitted his sister told him that, if his father were hanged, he would receive $2000 on an insurance policy.

The case was continued until the 30th inst.

ASSAILANT IS ROUTED BY WOMAN.

Negro Hits Her on Head With Hammer; Frightened Away by Screams.

Screaming for help after she had been struck with a hammer, Mrs. W. A. Farris of 975 East Forty-third street, frightened away a burly negro who early last night attacked her after she alighted from a Central-avenue street car at Forty-third street. As a result of the assault Mrs. Farris is at home in a very nervous condition and the police in all parts of the city are searching for her assailant.

Mrs. Farris was almost home from a Christmas shopping trip when the attack took place. She told Officers Little and Haws of the University Police Station that she was walking past a pile of lumber being used in the construction of a theater building near Forty-third and Central avenue when the negro leaped from behind the pile and struck her.

He then began to drag here into the vacant building, but was frustrated when Mrs. Farris revived sufficiently to call for help. A passing pedestrian assisted Mrs. Farris to her home, where she was attended by a physician.

MRS. PIXLEY HERE.

Mrs. Frank Pixley, wife of the playwright, is stopping at the Ambassador for the holidays, coming up from Hotel del Coronado, San Diego, where she has been a resident for the last year.

Turn on Father Who Killed Mother.

Mrs. Norma Chiodo and Boyd Thompson, Her Brother, Who testified yesterday in hearing of their father on double murder charge.

MAN FREED OF CHARGE OF ATTACK

Wife's Story of Asserted Assault by Detective is Help to Husband.

Ernest Fowler was acquitted yesterday by a jury in Judge Houser's court of a charge of assault to commit murder growing out of the shooting of Curtis Rule, an operator of the Burns Detective Agency. The verdict was returned by the jury ten minutes after it heard the testimony of Fowler's wife that she had been assaulted by Mr. Rule.

According to the testimony introduced, Mr. Rule and Deputy Sheriff Couts were investigating the Huntington Park bank robbery some months ago. They suspected Mr. Fowler of being implicated and took his wife and her sister, Mrs. Avadue Phillips, in a machine for the purpose of questioning them.

While they were on this ride, both women testified, Mrs. Fowler was assaulted by Rule. Upon their return to the downtown district they were met by Mr. Fowler, who accused Rule of having had intimate relations with his wife. In the ensuing struggle Rule was shot through the leg.

It was contended by the officers that Mr. Fowler did the shooting, but all eyewitnesses stated that at the time the gun was fired, Mr. Fowler's hands were in the air empty.

Season's First Christmas Tree Fire Reported.

The first Christmas tree fire of the season was reported at the home of I. F. Wilson at 403 Sunset Boulevard early last night. The loss was estimated by the police at not more than $35. The blaze, caused according to fire department investigators by candles igniting inflammable tree decorations, for a short time threatened to spread throughout the two-story frame building. Quick action by firemen of engine companies Nos. 16 and 5 prevented this possibility.

ADDITIONS MADE TO LIST OF CHARITIES.

To make more complete the list of worthy charitable institutions in this vicinity printed in The Times Friday morning as known to be deserving of the assistance of the general public at this season, the following are added: Maternity Cottage, 127 South Utah street, and the King's Daughters' Day Nursery, 133 North Clarence street. The list given by The Times is necessarily incomplete, but omission should not be construed as reflecting lack of worthiness on the part of any so omitted.

Collection of County Taxes at High Mark

The biggest tax collection in the history of the county was announced by County Tax Collector Welch through Deputy Tax Collector Alphonso yesterday. Up to Thursday night, the total amount collected was $32,279,721.21. This is an increase over the amount collected for the same time last year of $959,853.32. The increase, in addition to the larger population and the great number of houses built, is largely due to increases in value of property.

AUTO VICTIM DIES.

You Len, a Chinaman, who was struck by an automobile at Alameda and Marchessault streets Thursday night, died at the Good Samaritan Hospital early last night, according to a report at the Coroner's office. The driver of the machine, according to police investigation, took the injured man to the hospital, but failed to leave his name.

QUEER ACTS OF BURCH RELATED.

Depositions Say He Wore Fur Coat in Summer.

One Asserts Man in Kennedy Case "Not All There."

Stories of "Wild Women" and Drink Parties Told.

Fondness for a huge fur coat that he wore in the summertime while going bare-headed caused Montana people to believe Arthur C. Burch, who now is on trial for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, was "not all there" mentally.

This was the burden of nine depositions from residents of Harlowton, Mont., read in Judge Reeve's court yesterday as preparing the way for the many insanity experts who will testify next week for the defense. Following the depositions court was adjourned until Tuesday morning.

Judge Reeve announced that he will speed up the trial that has been in progress since November 22, and which probably will not go to the jury before the middle of January. Court sessions will begin at 9:30 instead of 10 a.m., the court declared, and every effort will be made to hurry the case along.

Montana residents who knew Burch while the latter was manager of a ranch in that State two years ago had prepared depositions that were read at the conclusion of similar affidavits from Burch's friends in Evanston and Chicago.

"WILD WOMEN."

Pictures of "wild women" night parties in the home of Rev. William A. Burch, father of the defendant, while Arthur Burch's parents were absent were presented to the jury in the Chicago depositions. One of the witnesses described Burch's appearance while he was evidently suffering from a "hang-over" after a party.

William F. Jacobs, meat dealer in Montana, said he believed Burch insane. The defendant had eccentric opinions on all matters of business and his views on values were ridiculous, the witness stated.

Charles P. Kirk, builder and contractor, formed the opinion that Burch was a "little out of his mind and was a very peculiar man." He could not dwell for any time on any subject and dressed peculiarly, according to Mr. Kirk.

"Not mentally balanced," was the decision Andrew D. Eggenberger, meat cutter, reached about Burch. He also noticed the peculiar dress and the defendant's habit of wearing a large fur coat in the summer. On one memorable occasion, the meat cutter recalled, Burch brought to market an unusually large hog and when he was offered a price a few cents different from the market, he announced he would take the hog back to his ranch, twenty-five miles away.

BILLY SUNDAY GETS NO REST

Satan-Chaser to Preach Here Twice Tomorrow; Christmas Music Features Services.

Billy Sunday knows that there's no rest for the wicked. Billy can't escape the pulpit, especially the Presbyterian pulpit, and has surrendered to the inevitable.

Unheralded by band wagons or billboards, Billy Sunday and "Ma" Sunday, with their son, Billy Sunday, Jr., arrived in Los Angeles Thursday night to spend Christmas with another son, George Sunday, who lives at 3207 La Cresta Court. On the way from Indiana, Billy received a telegram at Tulsa, Okla., from Dr. John Albert Eby, requesting the sawdust-trail expert to preach the Christmas morning sermon at the Wilshire Presbyterian Church in Los Angeles. One can't go back on a brother, so Billy wired ahead that he would be there with bells on.

No sooner had Mr. Sunday arrived in Los Angeles than Dr. Herbert Booth Smith, pastor of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church, heard about it, and he also heard that Billy intended to preach for Dr. Eby tomorrow. In behalf of his congregation, Dr. Smith decided that he would have Mr. Sunday at his own church tomorrow evening. He tried to "get" George Sunday's home, but the phone was out of order. However, Dr. Eby's phone was in good condition and Dr. Smith rang him up and pleaded with him to plead with Mr. Sunday on behalf of the congregation of the Immanuel Church.

Safe in the knowledge that he had captured the "lion" first, Dr. Eby boldly presented Dr. Smith's petition to Billy. It won't do at all to show favoritism among brethren—so Billy said he would oblige Dr. Smith, gladly. Mr. Sunday will get his "day off" next Monday, and Tuesday he will leave for Pennsylvania, for a series of evangelistic services.

Evening services at the Wilshire Presbyterian Church will include a cantata presenting the birth of Christ. Special Christmas music will feature all services in local churches tomorrow.

New Church to Open On New Year's Day.

"We are known as the Wonder City of the world. By the gifts of God in nature and by the spirit and increase of our people, our city has an incomparable position in the land. All signs point to a still more amazing increase. We are rich; we have everything—but we must beware lest we forget God. The City of the Angels without God would be a lost Paradise. Men, women and children must awake to insure God's tomorrow in Los Angeles." These sentiments were expressed yesterday by Rev. Frank R. Dyer, D.D., whose recent arrival in Los Angeles has resulted in the founding of the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church. A parish house and community center is already under construction at Eighth street and Plymouth Boulevard and a site for a pretentious temple of worship has been purchased. Pending the completion of the parish house the members of the church will hold services in the theater of the Ambassador Hotel, the first public worship to be held there, at 11 o'clock in the morning of New Year's Day.

"CHRIST OR SANTA CLAUS?" DR. OLIVER RETURNS.

Dr. French E. Oliver arrived in Los Angeles from the East yesterday to spend the holidays with his family and to conduct Christmas Day services at the Church of the Open Door, at the invitation of Dr. R. A. Torrey. Tomorrow morning Dr. Oliver will preach on "Jesus Christ or Santa Claus?" In the evening the subject will be "The Unpardonable Sin." Attractive program of Christmas music will be rendered at morning and evening services.

BILLY SUNDAY TO PREACH. IMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN.

Billy Sunday will be the big attraction at Immanuel Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening and efforts will be made to seat everyone who desires to attend the services. At the morning hour, Dr. Herbert Booth Smith will preach on "The Shepherds and the Angels," and a special musical program will be rendered. The chorus choir will be augmented by visiting singers and the organist will be assisted by Morris Stoloff, violinist, and Mme. Anna Timner, cellist.

"THE MANGER THRONE" CANTATA AT TEMPLE BAPTIST.

Special preparations have been made for a great Christmas festival at the Temple Baptist Church tomorrow. The Sunday-school will put on a Christmas pantomime in the main auditorium, and the Temple soloists and choir will render special numbers. Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher will preach in the morning on "Why Every One Should be Happy on Christmas." In the evening Manney's "The Manger Throne" will be rendered by the choir, assisted by many noted artists, and Dr. Brougher will preach on "The First Christmas Tree."

"WHEN THE STAR SHONE." UNIVERSITY METHODIST.

Rev. L. R. Bayard's costume pageant, "When the Star Shone," will be given tomorrow evening at the University Methodist Episcopal Church, with more than forty members of the church and Sunday-school participating. Scenery and decorations will transform the pulpit and choir-loft into the city of Bethlehem. The pageant is said to be a superior one in its construction and detail. At the morning hour, Dr. W. A. Betts will preach on "A Rock Across the Highway of History."

GIVE THE "MESSIAH." FIRST METHODIST.

The Christmas theme chosen for a sermon by Dr. E. E. Helms, at the First Methodist Church, Trinity Auditorium, tomorrow evening is "The Shepherds Return." A feature of the morning service will be the rendition, by Gail Mills Dimmitt, of Arthur Blakeley's new composition "Brightest and Best." In the evening a chorus of 250 trained voices will render "The Messiah."

TO DISCUSS CONFERENCE. CHURCH OF THE PEOPLE.

"The Esoteric Meaning of Christmas," is the subject of a discourse by Reynold E. Blight tomorrow morning before the congregation of the Church of the People, Music-Art auditorium. In a prelude, Mr. Blight will discuss "The Disheartening Collapse of the Washington Conference." An attractive program of Christmas music is promised.

"CAPITALIZING CHRISTMAS." FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

Since Christmas falls on Sunday for the first time in eleven years, elaborate services have been planned for tomorrow by members of the First Presbyterian Church. In the morning, Dr. Hugh K. Walker will preach on "The Name that Tells the Story," and in the evening Rev. Paul C. Elliott will speak on "Capitalizing Christmas." At morning worship the choir will render three anthems: "Christmas Bells," "Sing O Heavens," and "Hosanna." A feature of the music in the evening will be special numbers by Sibley G. Pease, the organist. The anthems by the choir will include "Hark, what Means those Holy Voices," "Hymn of Peace," and "Still Grows the Evening over Bethlehem."

"COMING OF THE KING." FIRST BAPTIST.

Dudley Buck's cantata, "The Coming of the King," will be rendered at the First Baptist Church tomorrow evening, the program starting at 7:15 o'clock. The chorus, under direction of E. A. Bertrand, will be assisted by special soloists and a stringed orchestra. Dr. James A. Francis will bring a brief message to his people on the subject "Christmas." In the morning, there will be a processional service by the choir, the ordinances of baptism will be observed and Dr. Francis will preach on "What He Brought When He Came."

THE PAGAN MIND.

Archbishop Hayes says that birth control and divorce are both pagan institutions. It is astonishing how many pagans there are in this country.

THE BIG GUNS.

The new sixteen-inch gun lives up to its name in every way. It has hurled a shell through sixteen inches of Bessemer armor plate. It is about time we were seriously talking disarmament.

THE STILL ALARM.

The women of South Carolina are joining the authorities in raiding and stamping out the stills in the hill country. The women not only will not keep stills themselves, but they will not allow a man to keep one.

PLUTOCRATIC BEGGARS.

Investigation disclosed that a Seattle beggar had $15,000 in cash and real estate worth $25,000 more. Yet who shall say he did not work hard for his fortune? Begging is a difficult and disagreeable task to most men.

LIP SERVICE.

In a case of divorce it seems to be held that, although a husband may remove rouge from his wife's lip, he must not remove the lip in the doing. Even a lady's lip has some rights. It hardly needed a second Daniel to recite that.

THE LADY OBSERVER.

If Margot Asquith comes to Washington, as she promises, some of the statesmen may have a squirm coming. Margot flings a nasty pen and is quite capable of considering Congress as if it were a zoo. Even the "Mirrors of Washington" might be smashed.

A FIRE FIGHTER.

The new American Minister to Honduras used to be a member of the Atlantic City fire department and learned diplomacy through a smoke screen. He may be valuable in extinguishing the fires of revolution that break out every now and then in his new field.

THE FRENCH ACADEMY.

Moving pictures have finally gained admission to the French Academy or Salon. There's a chance for Douglas Fairbanks to enter his "Three Musketeers." Some of the Frenchmen would be surprised to find what happened to D'Artagnan in Hollywood between London and Paris.

ADVENTURES OF SANTA.

Bandits held up Santa Claus in Evanston and robbed him of $400 and a sleighload of bundles. When highwaymen become so lost to shame as to plunder Kris Kringle's pack it is time to call out the troops. What can the Washington conference do to make the world safe for Santa Claus?

LEAP FROM THE PAST.

They had a Sunday-closing movement in Los Angeles forty years ago and the Anti-Sunday Closing Association and the League of Freedom joined hands in combatting the crusade. This has a familiar ring to it. In another forty years the League of Freedom will be doing the same old stunt.

THE RAVEN CROAKS.

The Jeremiahs of the British Journal of Astrology read bad news in the stars. They promise that the year 1926 will be the most disastrous that the world has ever known. It will shatter all previous records for famine, flood, crime, war and pestilence. But cheer up; some of us may not live that long.

WET WEATHER.

The beetle-browed statisticians are now taking a noggin of rain water in one hand and a volume of higher mathematics in the other and computing the cash increment to the State of California as a result of the opening of the heavens. Every inch of rain means a billion dollars to some of the guessers. Anyhow, it is great stuff.

THE TIPPING IS GOOD.

A Washington bellboy who is regularly paid $30 a month by the landlord is paying alimony to a retired wife on the basis of an income of $150 a week. Tips must be fairly good during the conference. Though he gets but a dollar a day, nobody hears of a Washington bellboy going on a strike. His salary is the smallest thing the bellboy has to worry about.

THE RED TERROR.

The tongue of rumor declares that the Bolsheviki had planned to take possession of most of the capitals and large cities of the earth on January 1. Take it from us, the Bolsheviki will have their mangy hands full in seizing the fair municipality of Los Angeles. If necessary Mayor Cryer will have two or three hundred extra cops to club them back to reason. There isn't a ghost of a chance for the City of the Angels to pass under the red banner of the soviet.

WORLD WIRELESS.

In the course of ten days of international radio experimentation it was found that twenty-six of America's youthful amateurs had sent and received messages across the Atlantic. The kid's wireless waves are apt to find an echo in old Madrid or that gay Paris. At the same time, communication was had between the government tower at Annapolis and the new station at Tokio. This was a conversation over a trifle of 12,000 miles of distance and should make for the peace of nations. It is hard to plan any secret devilment while these wireless birds are at work in every nook of the globe.

FOOLISH LEGISLATION.

President Harding stressed an inherent weakness of Federal legislation during the last years of the Wilson administration when he referred to the fact that capital is seeking to invest in public securities and is staying out of industrial enterprises, due in a large part to unwise methods of taxation and the unnecessary restrictions placed about the investment of capital in industry. Federal, State and municipal securities are exempt from taxation, the risk of loss is almost nonexistent and the guaranteed returns are greater than the average profits for recent months from industrial enterprise.

Under these conditions it is not surprising that hundreds of millions of dollars that otherwise would be invested in industrial enterprises are devoted instead to the purchase of nontaxable securities. It is economically wise, perhaps, on the part of the investors; but it has occasioned a stringency in the market that once furnished the funds to keep the wheels of industry moving. In their desire to harass capital and limit its profits a noisy but thoughtless group in this country have succeeded in dealing a telling blow to the class with whose welfare they profess a profound concern. Capital is necessary for investment in industry before industry can give employment to the workers. Ordinarily $1,000,000 placed in some industrial enterprise makes places for over 500 men and women; and it necessarily follows that the greater the number of millions invested the fewer the number of unemployed in the country.

Whenever $1,000,000 is withdrawn from the manufacturing industry and invested in nontaxable bonds at least 500 men and women are deprived of a gainful occupation. No one can blame the investor, who has the right to make a choice of how he shall place his funds; but, for this reason, a double blame rests upon those who have made conditions in industry so unsatisfactory that capital is forced out. It is probable that one-half the unemployment in the United States at this time is traceable directly to the Socialistic and labor-union campaigns against capital. The tendency of workmen to go on strike is one that serves to discourage the placing of capital in enterprises where a number of workmen are employed. A rigorous limitation of the profit permitted in an industry has a similar tendency.

These facts have been recognized by the Socialist agitators themselves; but they have justified their actions by asserting that, when the last dollar of capital is forced out of industry, the government will be compelled to take charge of all industrial enterprise. In that way they hope to bring about government ownership and control. The recent experience of Russia, Hungary, Mexico and Italy in governmental or Communistic control of industry has served to prove that the working classes fared vastly better under what has been termed capitalized industry.

If the experience of the last three or four years has proved anything, it has proved that there is more employment at good wages for the working classes in the states and communities where there is the least governmental interference with industry. Politicians are notoriously self-seeking; and when they get hold of any enterprise, under the guise of Federal operation or control, they proceed to make the most of it, not for the public, but for themselves.

Several years before the great war a group in this country succeeded in launching a campaign against the railroads and other public utility corporations. It is true that there were abuses that needed correcting; but the campaign was carried to the point where capital began to withdraw from public utility enterprises. The object of the campaigners was to force the railroads into the hands of the government. They succeeded; but two years of government control and operation proved how disastrous it was to permit politicians to meddle with one of the nation's greatest industries. The railroads were returned, after the people had lost $1,500,000,000 in the experiment; but restrictions that hamper and embarrass their operation were continued. The result of this condition is reflected in the present state of the great transportation lines. They cannot secure the capital necessary to restore them to their former efficiency. It looks like a case where the people cannot collectively operate industrial enterprises successfully and are so blind to their own interests that they will not permit experts to operate them.

It is bootless to deplore the withdrawal of capital from industry so long as we keep in effect laws and regulations which make its investment in industry less profitable than a placement in government securities. The fault is not with the possessors of capital, but with the unduly restrictive laws limiting capital investment.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION.

All America has scowled at a law which gives the State of Nevada with its 80,000 souls the same representation in the Senate as New York with its 10,000,000 inhabitants. Now the machinists of California who are fighting a just reapportionment of the State on a basis of its present population would deprive the southern part of the State of its proper representation. They even wish to invoke an amendment which would give a Senator to each county. Latest advices were that these political tricksters were willing to compromise on one Senator to each county having a population of 7500 or more. This would give Los Angeles county with its 1,000,000 souls the same representation as Ingo with its 8000 inhabitants. They are also trying to juggle the House apportionment so that in the lower branch Los Angeles county will get practically the same representation as San Francisco, although it has almost twice the population. The Southern California taxpayers keep the home fires burning so far as the politicans are concerned. If it were not for the wealth of Los Angeles many a grafter would have to go back to work.

JOB FOR UNCLE SAM.

Peru is willing and anxious that Uncle Sam should be arbitrator of her dispute with Chile over the Arica-Tacna territory. This might enable him to get sufficient practice to qualify for membership in the League of Nations. This expression of confidence is a bit unusual on the part of the Latin republics. Perhaps Chile will oppose, knowing that the selection is favored by the Peruvian government. The Arica-Tacna ailment sounds as if it might be treated with arnica. Who wants to be the guardian angel of Peru?

WHERE FRANCE EXCELS.

Despite the avalanche of books that descends annually from the literary heights of New York, Philadelphia and Boston upon the heads of the American reading public, this country has never had a serious candidate for the Nobel prize for literature. Our best sellers find small favor outside our own country. In statesmanship, medicine, chemistry and physics we have occasionally won the Nobel award; but when it comes to pure literature we have been weighed and found lacking, alike in style and imagination. If Emerson had lived in the present decade, or if the works of Clemens had been better known abroad—but why speculate? The Frenchmen tower as far above us in the realm of the imagination as we above them in the exposition of physical prowess.

Curiously enough, while we have produced no prize winners in romance, history or philosophy, Americans are the equals of the English, French and Italians in the appreciation of good literature. Probably half a million copies of the translations of the works of Anatole France, this year's winner of the Nobel prize, have been sold in the last ten years in the United States. The dramatization of his "Thais" was a great success and "The Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard," one of the earliest, though far from the best, of his works, is used as a textbook in many American seminaries and universities; possibly for the reason that it contains nothing that even the most captious could find objectionable and young ladies can read it without finding occasion to blush.

If the students had their choice it would be replaced by "Thais," the "Red Lily," "At the Sign of the Roast Beef," "The Gods Are Athirst" or, most seductive of all, "The Revolt of the Angels." Each of these works would be regarded as anathema by the followers of Anthony Comstock; but for those who do not permit ethics to intrude upon an artistic conception they possess a charm and a fascination that few other modern writers have been able to awaken.

Anatole France is a writer who declines to take anything in life, even himself, seriously. He jests alike at religion, morals, vice, human justice and paganism. But his satire is never vicious or heartless and he might be termed an apostle of tolerance. He confounds an infidel as airily and lightly as he satirizes a religious zealot. Perhaps it is the folly, vanity and hypocrisy that surround the noblest things in life, which he attacks, and not the things themselves.

Somewhere he has written "Life itself is tolerable only on condition that one does not examine it too closely." In his "The Gods Are Athirst" he gives what is perhaps the most human account that has ever been written of the horrors and excesses of the French Revolution. One who reads that work will get an insight into the impelling passions that caused such crimes to be committed by sincere men in the name of virtue. His appraisal of Robespierre is characteristic:

> Robespierre was an optimist, who believed in good. Statesmen of this turn do all the evil possible. If one meddles with the government of mankind one must never lose sight of the fact that they are monkeys, and mischievous. Only thus can you have a humane and kindly polity. The folly of the revolution was to wish to establish virtue on earth. When one would make men good and wise, free, moderate and liberal one is led to the fatal desire of killing them all. Robespierre believed in virtue and he brought about the "Terror." Marat believed in justice; he demanded two hundred thousand heads. . . . I have wished to show that men are too imperfect to administer justice in the name of virtue and that they should adopt for rule indulgence and goodness.

Some critics have taken France's irony seriously, a fault which he regards as a sin, and accuse him of being a Bolshevist. But their judgment is not generally shared. In his introduction to "The Opinions of Jerome Coignard" he wrote:

> Last week I had a visit from an anarchist comrade who honors me with his friendship and whom I like, because, having taken no part in the government of his country, he has kept much of his innocence. He wants to blow up everything merely because he believes men to be naturally good and virtuous. He thinks that, deprived of their goods and delivered from laws, they would shed egoism and wickedness. The tenderest optimism has led him to the most savage ferocity. His only misfortune, and his only crime, is that he has brought an elysian soul, made for the golden age, into the business of a cook, to which he is condemned.

Plainly a man who could write that paragraph is as far removed from Bolsherism as man from the gorilla. A phrenologist would probably discover that he lacks the bump of veneration. It might be said of him as he wrote of one of his characters, "Nature denied it (veneration) to him and he took no steps to acquire it." He shows scant respect for the doctrines of Socialism. Of the Socialistic doctrine of Rousseau he wrote:

> It is the doctrine for men who have never laughed. Its embarrassment is seen in its bad humor. It is ungracious. It reinstalls man among the monkeys and then gets unreasonably angry because the monkey is not virtuous. In which it is absurd and cruel. That was well exemplified when statesmen wished to apply the "Contract Social" to the best of republics.

Those who admire Anatole France most find in all his works a tender compassion for human misery. He seems to laugh at men's failings, to avoid weeping. Perhaps in his heart he utters the prayer, "God forgive them; they know not what they do." In "Jerome Coignard" he writes: "Men are rare who are free from the superstition of their period and look squarely at what the crowd dares not face." And vastly more rare are the men who possess the erudition, the delicate irony, the milk of human kindness, the independence of thought and the lack of egotism of Anatole France. It is an honor that came to him unsought. His personal opinion of the worth of the plaudits of the multitudes is expressed in "Jerome Coignard:"

> The success of a commonplace person disturbs nobody. Rather, it secretly flatters the mob. But there is an insolence of talent that is expiated by dumb hatred and calumnied not loud but deep. . . . Formed by so good a master, he judged sanely of literary glory and esteemed it at its worth, and that is absolutely nothing.

JAPAN IN THE CONFERENCE.

It was widely thought, before the Washington conference began its work, that if the conference came to an impasse it would be Japan that would be the stumbling block in reaching an agreement on the limitation of armaments and on the settlement of the Far Eastern problem, which are the outstanding arms of the conference.

But thus far whatever clouds have appeared in a generally clear sky have come not from the Orient, but from the Occident.

It is less than seventy years since Japan began to attract world attention as a coming people. Her advancement in the ways of western civilization has been magical. Today she is one of the great powers, with the ambition of youth and the vision which spells expansion.

But, in spite of all this, Japan is showing a readiness for co-operation with England and America, a bigness of spirit which already justifies the prediction that in the ultimate achievements of the conference she will be found marching in full step in the front rank with the nations striving for the elimination of wars and for international amity and good fellowship.—[New York Herald.

ABOVE THE AVERAGE.

Capital has been abused since the world began, although actually as respectable as the old flag. There is occasionally a mean capitalist; also, there is the red flag. Occasionally a Smile-Smile, Dam-You-Smile Man robs those who have confidence in him; I once saw a book of 200 pages devoted to preachers who had gone wrong.

There is evil in everything, but as a steady thing, capital is considerably above the average.—[Howe's Monthly.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

SLIPPERS.

Oh, I have slippers, fancy-sewed,
And slippers green and gray, and Slippers come to my abode on every Christmas Day. The postman toils
On lagging feet, for he is old and Frail; I see him coming down the Street with slippers by the bale;
As to my door the postman drifts I
Shed a weary moan; I often think
That Christmas gifts should be for Kids alone. I send a gift to my Aunt Jane and she sends one to Me; the gift I send gives her a pain
And she cries "Hully chee!" And She sends me a gaudy pair of slippers she has knit, whereat I sigh
And wring my hair—the blamed things do not fit. The little children love the things we send by Santa's mail; they're happy as so many kings — life hasn't made things stale. I hear them shouting
In their joy and love them for the din, in raptures o'er some flashy toy that's made of wood or tin.
But when a grown-up gets a gift,
In Christmas ribbons tied, all wea-rily he maketh shift to see what is inside. And then we hear his doleful cry, as he upsets the chairs:
"More slippers! And already I have forty-seven pairs!" The Christmas tree its head uplifts, a pleasant thing to see; now let the children have the gifts—I hope there's none for me! WALT MASON.

MOTHERS OF MEN MUNITION MAKERS

BY JENNIE VAN ALLEN.

Mothers are the chief ammunition makers. They are the quartermasters who dole out flesh and blood, brain and brawn. In the birth throe they bring forth the grist that becomes the fodder for guns.

The man of war once lay beneath his mother's heart and was nourished at her breast. The breath in his nostrils, the beat of his pluse and the brain in which empires are conceived is his mother's gift to him. Other women appeal to his dual nature, but his undefiled love is given to her who bore him. In infancy his mother is his world and in death his heart cries out for her.

From the day that 40,000 children of Israel marched in battle array into the wilderness of Tekoa, down to the terrible hour when fighting men went to the World's War, mothers have rebelled against the "fire-eyed maid of smoky war."

Under the spur of patriotism a mother dedicates her son to the service of her country, but recoils when the war machine grinds his mind and body until he is transformed into a changeling with no resemblance to her bonny boy who went to war in the strength and power of his virile young manhood.

Mothers are unqualifiedly opposed to war. If the first war had been the last war the mothers of Israel would have laughed over the death of their first born. But mothers have learned that war is recurrent and that great problems are not settled by the sword; that every war is increasingly vicious and the biological effects upon the race more appalling; that battlefields are like the Land of a Thousand Smokes; that the ground is scarcely cooled before another eruption rages; that cannon still belch fire when new wars are declared and that fathers are in the fighting zone when their sons are drafted.

Every mother believes in disarmament, but the wars of the world have taught her the bitter truth, that nations are in peril if the weakest race is armed, for it craves power and will foment until its breed rules sea and land. The hope of peace lies in casting all war equipment into the melting pot and the destruction of all battleships.

Long ago the chosen people of God believed in the power of the Almighty, for, lo, it is written in the Book of Chronicles that when the King of Judah was in deadly fear of a mighty army who had come to war upon him HE SOUGHT THE LORD.

And all the people out of all the cities of Judah came to SEEK THE LORD.

And the king stood in the new court of the splendid temple of Solomon and cried:

"O Lord, in Thy hand is power and might and there is none able to withstand Thee. . . . Art Thou not our God? . . . Didst Thou not give this land to Thy people? . . . Did we not say that when evil cometh upon us as the sword we will cry unto Thee, for we know Thou wilt hear and help?

"Behold a great multitude has come to do us battle, but, lo, we have no might against this great company. Neither know we what to do. But our eyes are upon Thee."

Then upon a Levite came the spirit of the Lord and he cried:

"Thus saith the Lord, hearken ye ALL Judah and ye inhabitants of Jerusalem. Be not afraid or dismayed by reason of this great multitude, for THE BATTLE IS NOT YOURS, BUT GOD'S.

"Tomorrow go ye down against them as they come up by the cliff of Ziz, ye shall find them at the end of the brook.

"BUT YE SHALL NOT NEED TO FIGHT. SET YOURSELVES. STAND YE STILL AND SEE THE SALVATION OF THE LORD."

Early in the morning all Judah went into the wilderness, the singers going before the army, singing as they went.

The great armies that came against Judah were smitten and they fought among themselves, each one helping to destroy another. Therefore, when Judah came to the watch tower and looked into this multitude, behold there were dead bodies fallen to the earth and none escaped.

AND THE FEAR OF THE LORD WAS ON ALL THE COUNTRIES when they heard that the Lord fought against the enemies of Israel.

Many people today shape their own destinies. Their measuring rod is the gift of Jehovah. Though the armies of the world march past their habitation, no harm can come nigh their dwellings. Though the cities are burned with fire, yet there would not be the smell of smoke upon their garments. Though pestilence walks abroad at noonday, yet there will be neither sickness nor death within their borders.

If one man can work this miracle, nations can set the pace for everlasting peace. But a handful of people cannot stem the bloody tide of war. This great law is not operative when half the world are headsmen and the other half follow the plow. But the whole nation—the men and their little ones, their wives and their children must live in the presence of God Almighty.

Cannon have roared "Peace!"
Guns have thundered "Peace!"

But there will be no peace until the world listens to the whisper of the still, small voice:

"Peace! Peace! Peace!"

Would Finish the Job.

Pat, who had a weakness for the wine of the country, did a day's work for the village priest and labored so nobly that when he begged for a drink at the end of it the kind man had not the heart to refuse.

"'Tis a nail in your coffin, all the same, Pat," said he, as he poured out a couple of fingers.

"It is that, your riverence," said Pat, as he drained the glass; "but now that ye've the hammer in your hand ye might as well dhrove in another!"—[Pearson's Weekly.

AUDITING PACT EVOKES STORM.

Council, in Wrangly Session, Upholds Service Board.

Power Bureau's Books to be Conned by Expert.

Plea to Hire Local Talent is Voted Down.

Price, Waterhouse & Co., certified public accountants, were yesterday authorized by the City Council to audit the boks of the Public Service Commission's Bureau of Power and Light from Jan. 1, 1918, to June 30, 1921. The Council's decision was reached only after a battleof words during which almost everyone at the session of the Council took a hand in the proceedings and joined in hurling charges of one kind or another.

Councilman Mushet, whose charges that the Board of Public Service Commissioners had misrepresented the facts in connection with the operation of the city's hydroelectric power plants and business, was in the center of the fray. When the vote was finally taken on the question of approving the board's contract to employ Price, Waterhouse & Co., the result stood, for, President Criswell, Councilmen Allan, Langdon, Mallard, Sanborn and Wheeler (6;) opposed, Councilmen Conaway, Mushet and Sparks (3.)

SAYS PUBLIC WILL SCOFF.

Explaining his reasons for voting against the approval of the contract, Councilman Sparks said:

"I object to the employment of foreign experts to audit the books of the Power Bureau, as I am positive disinterested local experts can be employed. I question whether the public will have confidence in an audit made by accountants chosen by the Public Service Commissioners, though I have confidence in the commissioners."

Councilman Mushet likewise opposed the selection of Price, Waterhouse & Co., on the same grounds, namely, that as the controversy was between the Board of Public Service Commissioners and himself neither of the parties should choose the accountants.

The board was represented at the Council meeting by its special counsel, W. B. Matthews. He said the real controversy was not between Mr. Mushet and the board but between the power companies and the board.

"I do not represent the Los Angeles Gas Company of anyone else but myself, and I am fighting for what I think and know is right," replied Mr. Mushet.

Councilman Conaway said that the board should ask for bids from accountants and then from the bidders select an accountant to examine the Power Bureau's books.

Price, Waterhouse & Co., are to bepaid $4500 for their work in auditing the books of the Power Bureau and are to file a copy of their report with the City Council.

POWER LEAGUE ATTACKED.

During the debate Councilman Mushet charged that the Public Power League was the political branch of the Board of Public Service Commissioners.

The audit ordered of the Power Bureau's books comes as a result of charges made by Councilman Mushet that the operations of the city's hydroelectric power business to date would, under proper accounting, show a loss of $4,571,937, instead of a profit of $1,018,985, claimed by the board in its annual report.

CALIFORNIA AID SEEN IN TARIFF

Osborne Predicts Higher Rate on Walnuts, Almonds.

Says Senate May Protect Bean Industry, Also.

Tells Why Port Breakwater Plan Was Rejected.

Ample protection for California products in the new tariff bill is predicted by Congressman Osborne, who has just returned from Washington. He thinks that when the bill is finally reported to the Senate by the Senate Finance Committee it will show an advance over the House bill figures for walnuts and almonds, and perhaps for beans.

"It appears likely that when the bill goes to the Senate it will call for a tariff of 4 cents on unshelled walnuts instead of 2½ cents, as at present, and the almond figures may be advanced from 4 to 5 and from 12 to perhaps 15 cents on unshelled and shelled," he said. "Shelled walnuts may get a tariff of 12 cents. It appears likely that the bean tariff may go as high as 3 cents a pound."

TALKS ON HARBOR.

Speaking of Los Angeles Harbor improvements, Congressman Osborne said the breakwater proposition was estimated at $17,000,000 and that the government engineer reported unfavorably upon the project, holding that the harbor business does not justify such an expenditure. He thinks, however, that the harbor's budget will carry sufficient funds to take care of present improvements.

"It seems to me unlikely," said the Congressman, "that people in general realize how much the present administration has accomplished in a brief time. Already more than $1,000,000,000 has been cut from the cost of government, and if the Conference for the Limitation of Armaments turns out as we expect, a great deal more administrative expense will be cut off."

AT ARMS MEET.

Congressman Osborne said he attended several sessions of the conference and was greatly surprised at the impression President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes made on the foreign diplomats.

"I expect wonderful results from that meeting," he added, "but if it does nothing more than allay all this disturbing talk about war with Japan it will have done a great thing for the world. If it succeeds in limiting armament the world will have an opportunity to get back on its feet financially. An other war would bankrupt the world and possibly destroy civilization."

Congressman Osborne came home from Washington with a severe cold. His physician sent him to bed at once and last night he declared that he will remain there until next week, but will then be ready to hold a number of conferences and meet his many friends.

TO VIEW PORT.

An inspection trip to Los Angeles Harbor will be made today by members of the committee who attended funeral services for Congressman Elston in Oakland.

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce will be in charge of the tour. Business men interested in local shipping affairs are expected to accompany the party.

The committee, consisting of Congressman Osborne, Senator Congressmen Kinchloe of Ken-Kinchloe of Kentucky, McClintock of Oklahoma and Montague of Virginia and Sergeant-at-Arms Rogers and Chief Clerk Hollingsworth of the House of Representatives, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning over the Southern Pacific.

Senator Harrison of Mississippi is expected to arrive in Los Angeles Monday to join the committee. He plans to stay only a day or two, according to advices received at the Chamber of Commerce.

ONLY HALF OF BIG FEE GOES EAST.

Librarian Say Local Architect Will Share in Sums to be Paid.

Replying to the request of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association that the Board of Library Directors reconsider its decision in selecting Bertram G. Goodhue of New York to design the new $1,500,000 Central Public Library, to be built on Normal Hill, Librarian Perry yesterday forwarded a communication to the association calling attention to the fact that Mr. Goodhue's associate in preparing the plans and supervising the construction of the building will be Carleton M. Winslow of this city.

Librarian Perry stated yesterday that if the appointment of Mr. Goodhue has given rise to an impression that the building is not to be strictly a Los Angeles-made product, the surmise is erroneous.

"I venture to say," said Librarian Perry, "that after the building is completed and Mr. Goodhue has paid from his fee Mr. Winslow and the other local experts and engineers to be employed by him, not more than $50,000 of the total fee of $112,000 will go to Mr. Goodhue for his services. Wherever possible, contracts for all materials will be awarded to Los Angeles firms, so that the building will be strictly a Los Angeles-made product."

COMEDIENNE TO WED.

MILDRED JUNE WILL MARRY YOUNG PASADENAN.

By Grace Kingsley.

It would be a pity indeed if at least one beautiful young picture star didn't receive a diamond engagement ring at Christmas time. But no such calamity is to occur.

The day is saved by no less attractive a young representative of the picture business than Mildred June, Mack Sennett star, formerly an inhabitant of one of those bathless bathing suits, but of late leading lady for Billy Bevan Sennett comedies. Miss June is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice June, to be about to wed Edwards Cappa, D.D.S., prominent young dentist of Pasadena.

The engagement between Miss June and Dr. Cappa is the culmination of an acquaintance dating back to the arrival of the June family in Los Angeles four years ago.

Yesterday being Miss June's birthday, her fiance presented her with a handsome coupe, which is to serve as an engagement present.

The wedding is to take place within a few weeks, and while it has not yet been definitely decided, it is thought likely that Miss June will desert her screen career following her marriage.

Guy Bates Post Here.

Announcing himself as fully prepared to buckle down to film work, even to the necessity of arising at the unheard-of hour of 6:30 in order to arrive at the studio in time to put in a good day's work, Guy Bates Post, one of America's most distinguished actors, arrived here yesterday to make the film version of "The Masquerader," in which he has just closed a successful tour.

The play, it will be remembered, was adapted by Richard Walton Tully, and the film production is to be known as a Richard Walton Tully production.

"The Masquerader" is the first picture in which Mr. Post has ever appeared. James Young is to direct; Wilfred Buckland is the art director. The picture will be filmed at the United studios.

Roy Stewart Starred.

Convinced that 1922 will be a year for big and better pictures the Irving M. Lesser and Michael Rosenberg interests, composing Western Pictures Exploitation Company, announced yesterday the first of a series of special productions to be distributed from Los Angeles by their organization.

A contract was entered into by them with Hugh B. Evans, Jr., whereby Roy Stewart is to be starred under the direction of Robert Thornby. Stewart has made a box-office name for himself during the past few years, appearing recently in the Zane Grey stories.

The stories which will serve as vehicles for Stewart include "Ridin' Wild," by H. H. Van Loan. Marjorie Daw is to be the star's leading woman.

The Evans company will produce the pictures at Universal City.

GOBS CAPTURE SHIP.

Americans Welcome Prince on H.M.S. Pinafore.

H.M.S. Pinafore became the U.S.S. Pinafore for a few moments last night—just long enough to receive the Prince of Wales. It was the most successful of the Navy stunts at the American Legion's production of Gilbert and Sullivan's light opera, at the Philharmonic Auditorium, and being so judged will be repeated today, when the closing performances will be given. Today is All-Fleet Day.

The blue jackets and marines from the Oklahoma and Nevada were guests last night, and they put on the stunt incidental to the opera. Ensign A. B. Cook of the Oklahoma, read orders authorizing him to take possession of the ship, and the marines and sailors made things ship-shape in American fashion. The Prince, impersonated by Ensign C. E. Booth of the Oklahoma, was received, the band played the British and American anthems, and the audience cheered. Lieut. B. S. Cogue was in charge of the Nevada's part in the program.

CHORUS AT GRAUMAN'S.

The engagement of a chorus of 100 voices to be directed by Emory Foster, and the presence of Rev. James Whitcomb Brougher, who will deliver a short address on the significance of music and Christmas, will be appropriate novelties at Grauman's concert tomorrow morning. Handal's "Hallelujah" will be one of the offerings of the chorus, accompanied by Grauman's orchestra under the direction of Mischa Guterson. Another feature will be the orchestra's rendering of Russian Christmas music never before played in this city.

CHOIR WILL SING AT HOTELS TONIGHT.

The "Hallelujah Chorus," given by a full-vested choir of forty voices and orchestral accompaniment, will be a feature of the Christmas Eve celebration at the Ambassador and Alexandria hotels tonight. At 7:15 o'clock the St. Paul's Procathedral Choir, under the direction of Ernest Douglas, will proceed to the Christmas tree which reaches to the ceiling of the Alexandria lobby and there give a concert of Christmas carols which has been a feature of the hotel for sixteen years.

Afterward, the choir will be transferred to the Ambassador, where the program will be repeated around the big tree in the main dining-room, prior to the complimentary Christmas dinner which is to be given in honor of the guests by A. Frank, general manager of the Ambassador Hotel Corporation.

AGED COUPLE MARRIES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MERIDEN (Ct.) Dec. 23.—Mrs. Harriet E. Lucas of this city and George L. Elmer of Providence, R. I., both 87 years old, were married yesterday by the Rev. Everett Burns at the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

Film comedienne, whose engagement to wed is announced.

TESTIFY BURCH "NOT ALL THERE"

King's attention to Burch, for whom the witness later worked. Burch went into a drug store, bought a cone and walked out on the street eating it, the witness related. Mr. King ventured the opinion that Burch's "mind was wandering and he was not entirely sane." "He was half-witted," the witness stated, and he also mentioned the fur coat garb peculiar to Burch.

Norman O. Husband and C. A. Hunt, both assistant bank cashiers, had formed no opinion regarding Burch's sanity. Mr. Husband remembered, however, that Burch attracted attention by wearing the fur coat in the summer time while he was also going bareheaded.

Dr. Elsworth F. Ross, physician, dwelt on the fur coat incident and stated from the first day he saw Burch he "thought he was peculiar and a very eccentric man."

Dr. P. E. Thompson, dentist and stock-raiser, believed Burch "was not all there." Neither was he coherent in his conversation. The chief incident back of this opinion was that Burch wanted to buy a bull from the witness but insisted on buying it on the recommendation of Dr. Thompson and without looking at the bull.

PECULIAR DRESS.

William N. Smith, banker, said his first impression of Burch was that the defendant was somewhat eccentric and deficient mentally. He told of the peculiar dress adopted by Burch during his stay in Montana.

Night parties at the Burch home in Evanston were mentioned by Ralph G. Taylor's deposition. Mr. Taylor, a maintenance engineer and a neighbor of Burch's, told of at least five parties staged by Arthur Burch while the latter's parents were away from home in last February and March.

On one occasion, Mr. Taylor saw a woman leave the Burch home in the morning, in company with Arthur Burch and another man. The witness was asked whether this woman was Madalynne Obenchain, jointly accused with Burch of the murder. He said he did not know and gave the following description of the night visitor: blonde with flaxen hair, height five feet, six inches, weight 130 pounds, stylishly dressed and pretty.

Mr. Taylor tol dof bein called in by Burch one morning when the latter was suffering from the effects of being drunk the night before. Two empty liquor bottles were on the floor of the living-room. Burch asked him to bring him some breakfast.

BURCH BORED.

While the intimate details of Burch's past life were being unfolded by the depositions, Burch assumed a bored expression and once rose from his chair, stretched, walked over to a water-cooler and took a drink of ice water. He leaned over to talk for a moment with Bailiff Reeder and then sauntered back to his chair.

Mr. Taylor stated that he saw nothing that showed Burch was insane.

The unfinished portions of William B. Starn's deposition were read at the beginning of the day's session and more asserted "character changes" of Burch during the last two years were detailed. A new chapter of the defendant's life was told to the jury in a statement to the effect that Burch's former wife, Allie Gayle Quayle, daughter of Bishop Quayle, had caused the arrest of Burch for nonsupport.

On the day she filed divorce papers, Burch is said to have admitted to Mr. Starns that he had been "cheating" and that he was "going out again tonight."

CHARITY CIRCUS TODAY

Show to Aid Children's Home Will Give Variety of Jollity.

The charity circus and bazaar, which was scheduled to open three days ago, did not weather the storm very well, but the big tops are now fastened back in place and the first performances will be given today on the lot at Melrose and Western avenues.

All the usual concessions of a country fair have been erected in the outer tent, while under the big canvas the Escalante Brothers' troupe of Spanish performers will present three shows a day.

Mrs. Jessie Jordan, superintendent of the Children's Home So-the first day's receipts will be devoted to gladdening the hearts of the orphan kiddies in the home on Christmas Day, and that the remainder of the proceeds will go toward the financial fund of the home.

Urges Rumanian Woman be Admitted to Country.

Will Become Angeleno's Wife if Bars Are Lifted.

If the recommendation made yesterday by Alfred Burnett, immigration inspector in charge here, is approved, Miss Liba Abramvic, a Rumanian from Bucharest, the capital, will be allowed to complete her journey from St. John, N. B., to Los Angeles to become the bride of William Solomon, a fruit dealer of 903 Temple street.

The girl arrived from overseas a few rays ago, and inquiries were made by the immigration agent at St. John as to her statues. She stated she is coming to Los Angeles to marry Solomon.

An inquiry by Mr. Burnett shows that Mr. Solomon, who is to marry the girl, has never seen her, but that the preliminary arrangements in regard to the engagement were made through a picture of the Rumanian girl brought to Los Angeles eighteen months ago by his sister.

The records of the local courts show that Mr. Solomon was divorced from his first wife, Gussie Solomon, and that his interlocutory decree became effective last September. There were three children, now in possession of the wife. Mr. Solomon has been in Los Angeles for eleven years. He has furnished a home for his new bride.

Agent Burnett wired to the immigration agent at St. John that Mr. Solomon is able to care for the woman, and that they plan to be married. She will no doubt be admitted to the country.

"I'll make a confession," the officers accredit Bringhurst with saying, "but that confession will hang me. I have an insurance policy in my wife's name, and if I can be assured she'll get the money I'll confess."

The officers are investigating to determine if the policies will be paid.

Admits Arson to Hide Theft, Police Assert.

C. R. Watson, aged 18 years, arrested late last night in company with another youth, James McCabe, aged 22 years, is said to have confessed to Policemen Littel and Hafe of the University Station to having fired the home of James Caury at 318 West Twenty-seventh street, on the 17th inst., to "cover up a burglary job."

According to the officers the youths broke into the Caury home and stole a large quantity of jewelry. This jewelry, they say, Watson returned to Mr. Caury the following morning when he was accused of the crime. He then left the city. Yesterday he returned in company with McCabe. Both were placed in the University jail on suspicion of burglary.

HOLDS HOUSE WARMING.

The decision of Jan Rubini, noted violin virtuoso, to become a permanent resident of Los Angeles was celebrated by a host of his friends at a Christmas housewarming held last night at his home, "Rubini Villa," 1334 Third avenue. Sid Grauman was the guest of honor.

Among those present were W. C. Clarke, Dr. T. T. Ross, Charles Chaplin, Sid Grauman, Mrs. D. J. Grauman, Mrs. Lee O'Neil, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pantages, Walter Henry Rothwell, Edward Everett Horton, Ruth Roland, Carl Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schallert and numerous other newspaper people and musical and dramatic celebrities.

On Eve of Departure for California Manager of Bears' Opponents Grows Optimistic

COACH NEALE BELIEVES W. AND J. WILL PREVAIL.

Thinks Any Eleven That Can Make Two Touchdowns on Detroit Should be Formidable.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON (Pa.) Dec. 23.—On the eve of the departure of the Washington and Jefferson team for the Pacific Coast to engage the California team on January 2, Coach Earle Neale of the Presidents quietly informed his friends here that he believed his team would win. He expressed himself as well pleased that California seems so confident of the result.

"Our team would stand on its merits as a winning aggregation," he said. "I quite agree with Foster Stanford, the Rutgers coach, that any team that can beat Detroit by two touchdowns will make an interesting game for California. There is the one element of uncertainty about the condition of our players due to the long trip and the change in climate, but I believe my men will be in shape, and if they are, I think they can win."

GET HOLIDAY.

W. and J.'s team had a holiday from practice this afternoon. A drizzling rain fell throughout the afternoon and inasmuch as the suits were packed early this evening, Neale dismissed the men after they had assembled at the clubhouse and confined his instructive efforts to a blackboard session this evening. The men will get no work until next Monday, at Kansas City, where arrangements have been made for a practice field.

The Red and Black players will leave here tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock in good physical condition. Thus far no evidences of staleness have been seen and every man in the squad seems to be in the proper mental attitude, confident of his ability to show the West something in football.

READY FOR TRIP.

Washington was literally agog with excitement tonight as the football party concluded its preparations for the Coast trip. About twenty in addition to the playing squad will make the trip. Two special Pullman coaches are already on a Pennsylvania siding here and late tonight all the impediments of the team had been placed aboard and guards placed on the cars. Halfback Erickson and Right Tackle Weiderquist went on to Chicago ahead of the team, leaving this morning for a visit at Weiderquist's home at Moline, Ill. They will meet the general party at Chicago tomorrow night. Coach Neale today gave out the names of the men who will comprise the squad of twenty to uphold the football prestige of the East; included in the last are several backs, four ends, two centers, four tackles and three guards.

The fortunate players are: Capt. Black, Weiderquist, Perkins and Browning, tackles; Koepf, Convolinka, Spillers and Aiken, ends; Neale, Vince and Marion, guards; Crook and Syder, centers; Erickson, McLaughlin, West, Brenkert, Bedista, Furthey and Vick, backs.

The squad is the smallest that has made a trip this year, but Neale believes he will have a sufficient number of subs to take care of any emergency.

PICK ONLY ONE.

The fourth official to handle the game had not been selected late tonight. Wash-Jeff has selected Varnell and Husbel from the list submitted by California, but the only man picked from the Wash-Jeff list by Andy Smith, thus far, is Walter Eckersall of Chicago. Manager Murphy had a telegram today from Eckersall, in which the latter stated that he would accept the assignment, but that he would not go West with the Presidents. He will not leave Chicago until the middle of next week, arriving possibly a day ahead of the game. It is probable that the fourth man to officiate in the game will not be named now until the Wash-Jeff team gets to Kansas City, as there will be no opportunity for negotiations until that stop is made.

DEMPSEY MAY MEET FULTON IN MARCH.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. — Jack Dempsey may defend his title in a 15-round fight with Fred Fulton of Rochester, Minn., at Madison Square Garden on St. Patrick's Day, March 17. This bit of information was gleaned today from Danny Dillon and Jack Josephs, Minneapolis boxers who are on their way to New York to engage in pending contests. These fighters are under the management of Banny Haskell, who also looks after Fulton's affairs.

Fulton and his manager will be in Chicago on Monday on their way to New York to talk over the match with Tex Richard.

BANKER ENTERTAINS FOR CHRISTY WALSH.

O. M. Souden, prominent in Los Angeles banking circles, yesterday tendered a luncheon at the California Club in honor of his son-in-law, Christy Walsh. Christy, who formerly was a sporting writer and cartoonist, is now head of a New York syndicate.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA CLARA, Dec. 23.—Stanford University's new basketball pavilion, will be dedicated January 7, when the University of Santa Clara team plays the Cardinals.

BEARS LEAVE TONIGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, Dec. 23.—University of California's football team leaves here tomorrow night for Pasadena, Cal., where it meets the Washington and Jefferson College eleven, January 2. The Californians will ride in two special cars. Coach Andy Smith, who returned recently from the East, expects his team will have a harder fight in the coming game than it did when it defeated Ohio State University, big ten champion, at Pasadena last New Year's Day.

Secret practice will be held by the Bears today and tomorrow.

Sub Base Eleven Which Plays Santa Fe Shops Team in Christmas Day Game at Bovard Field.

Coach Chaplain Henry Sanborn (standing) has developed an eleven which has gone through the season undefeated. It has victories to its credit over such teams as Occidental and Redlands, the latter team being rated but a notch below Whittier, winner of the Southern California conference championship. The players in the photo are Disbrow, right half; Morine, captain and left half; Shickle, quarterback; Woodmansie, fullback; Lishman, right end; Hoper, right tackle; Squires, right guard; Bishard, center; Toner, left guard; Serquist, left tackle, and Bennett, left end.

BALL PLAYER MARKET GOES UP A NOTCH; ATHLETES ARE SELLING AT FANCY PRICES.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Hefty price paid by the Giants for O'Connell and Ruppert's $100,000 offer for Statz suggest a decided looseness of the dollar in baseball, unknown a few years ago. Not many seasons since, $5000 was considered a stiff price when paid for any minor-league star, although in a few instances they brought more, generally proving not to be worth it.

Take the case of Zeb Terry and Fred McMullin. Here were two pips. In 1915 they formed a stellar keystone combination for the Angels, probably the best ever seen in his cicuit. That fall, in order to beat the draft, they were both sold to the Chicago White Sox. The pair brought a grand total of $10,000 or $5000 per each, and the immensity of it all simply staggered the local baseball colony.

On the reputed basis of the O'Connell sale, these players now reasonably would be expected to bring an aggregate of at least $200,000, which is some different from $10,000. Both at that time were better ball players than O'Connell at his present state of development. Also, both were .300 hitters, and a .300 hitting infielder is rarer than an outfielder of the same batting ability, as well as more valuable.

At that time, of course, minor league clubs were able to buy pretty good ball players from the majors at $1000 a head and less, which can't be done any more. But the little fellows have in the meantime boosted their prices higher than have the majors. It is hardly likely that the present rate of exchange will continue for a great while. Even wealthy clubs such as the two Manhattan establishments couldn't stand the drain perpetually.

Then there was the case of Bobby Meusel suggestive of the O'Connell case, because so dissimilar.

STILL GRAIN.

O'Connell isn't even ripe yet. Meusel was practically a finished ball player the first time he stepped on a professional diamond. He is the only player we can recall ever having gone up from any part of the country you knew would be a star from the moment he landed. That was two years ago. As far as known, Vernon received only five players for him. No cash consideration ever was mentioned. These players, on the basis of prices then prevailing, could not have been worth in the drove more than $10,000 or $12,000. Yet it was considered a swell deal at the time, and was regarded as making the Vernon club.

Meusel, after the manner some of these birds are now rated, was worth $250,000 the day that he stepped on a train for New York. In fact, the Yankees value him at that figure today. This transaction was only two years ago, proving that the present condition of the market is of comparatively recent upheaval.

And it was only two years ago that Ruppert and Huston astounded the country by paying $135,000 for Ruth, a big leaguer of proven ability. Many thought them cuckoo. It is very doubtful whether these men today would consider an offer of a cool half million, or a warm half for the Bambino. Barring injuries he will net them three of four times that amount at the gate during the remaining period of his effectiveness.

Going further back, and almost to the time Dummy Kimm was first basing for Los Angeles, we find crack ball players almost as cheap as the dirt behind a pickaninny's ears. Imagine receiving $750 apiece for three such players as Frank Dillon, Hal Chase and Doc Newton. That's what happened to Jim Morley, and he pocketed the money right cheerfully. Jim didn't figure it was a good bargain, and yet he didn't think that he had exactly been cheated. This trio went up by the draft route. Dillon in 1903, and Chase and Newton in 1904. The draft price was then $750, and it was possible to draft two players from any one club. Grand total of $2250 for the three.

Dillon at the time was in his prime, and a .300 hitter in the majors, as well as wonderful fielder. Chase was the greatest player that ever laced on a first baseman's mitt. Newton was one of the best pitchers in the business. Grand total, $2250. We repeat it for emphasis.

Writing about this deal some ten years after it happened, ye scribe remarked on the outrageous smallness of the sum, and ventured the rather bold assertion that the three of them at that time probably would bring at least $15,000.

What do you suppose they would bring today, taking them as they then were, in their prime? The old adding machine balks at the job of formulating an answer.

Officials to Get Tickets for Big Game

Tickets for the annual New Year's game at Pasadena will be available to members of the Southern California Football Officials' Association, starting this morning, according to an announcement made by Secretary Ray Call. These tickets can be had until next Wednesday at the office of Graduate Manager Nichols, 414 Metropolitan Building. This arrangement for the members of the association was made possible through the credit of Manager Nichols with the Tournament of Roses Committee.

Leagues Will Publish Dates on January 3.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. — Schedules of the American and National Leagues for the 1922 baseball season will be drafted at a meeting of the schedule committees to be held in French Lick, Ind., January 3, President Ban Johnson of the American League, announced tonight.

The National League committee will be President Heydler and Barney Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburg club. President Johnson will map out the schedule for the American League.

The date for opening the season probably will be agreed upon as April 12, it was said. The schedules call for 154 games as in former years.

SANTA CLARA FIVE TO PLAY Y.M.C.A.

The Santa Clara University basketball team will play the Y.M.C.A. five at 8 p.m. today in the Central Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. Up to date the Y men have won four straight games, but as the Santa Clara team defeated the Los Angeles Athletic Club there is every promise of a close match tonight. The Santa Clara team has several men in its line-up who played on the Livermore team in the national tournament at Kansas City last year.

COLONELS IN SAN DIEGO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 23.—The Centre College football squad, which arrived here early today, put in brisk signal practice today on the Coronado polo field, which is covered with turf and was soft from recent rains. Coach Moran expressed confidence that all of his men would be in good shape for the game against the University of Arizona here on Monday. The stadium, where the contest will be staged, has no turf, but indications are that it will be far from hard when the whistle blows for the first kick-off.

Some of the advance guard of the Arizona "rooters," who, according to reports, will be several hundred strong at the game, arrived tonight. They all declared that the Arizona team would make a good showing.

McVey is Dead in New York of Pneumonia.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Sam McVey, negro heavyweight pugilist, died today in a local hospital, a victim of pneumonia.

McVey, one of the most formidable of negro heavyweights during his ring career, was born in California in 1885. Standing close to six feet in height and weighing 200 pounds, he possessed terrific punching power, more than the average boxing skill and ability to take heavy punishment without faltering.

In 1903 he fought two twenty-round contests with Jack Johnson, later world's champion, losing both bouts. He fought Sam Langford in more than a dozen contests staged in all parts of the world. Langford was the victor in a majority of the battles.

Recently McVey had appeared in the role of trainer and sparring partner for negro and white heavyweights.

FRENCHMAN EASY FOR JAKE SCHAEFER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—Taking the final block of his 3200-point match with Roger Conti, French billiardist, Jake Schaefer, world's 18.2 balkline champion, easily won the match last night, with a total of 2988 points to 2126 for Conti.

TIJUANA RESULTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 23.—Manchen in the seventh race was the only favorite to win today at Tijuana. It was simply a case of the best mudders. As a result some fancy prices were hung up. Rapid Stride won the fourth event, a handicap affair, defeating a fast bunch of sprinters at five and one-half furlongs. Gen. Byng, strongly played in the third race, had to give way to Dalwood, the latter taking the lead at the start and never being headed.

President Coffroth of the jockey club today extended an invitation to the members of the Centre College football team to be his guests at the border course Sunday. The invitation was accepted and the "Praying Colonels" will be accompanied by scores of former Kentuckians who are now residents of Southern California. In honor of the visit Coffroth announces that two of the feature races of the day will be called the Centre College and the Danville handicaps. Results:

First race, five furlongs—Bill Head won. Chrome second, Squash third. Time 1:05 1-5.

Second race, one mile and seventy yards—Undine won, Flash of Steel second, Baby Sister third. Time 1:52 2-5.

Third race, one mile and seventy yards—Dalwood won, Gen. Byng second, Little Orphan third. Time 1:52 4-5.

Fourth race, five and one-half furlongs—Safety won, Ermitana second, Daly Pahlen third. Time 1:10 4-5.

Fifth race, five and one-half furlongs—Rapid Stride won, Sedan second, Bills third. Time 1:09 4-5.

Sixth race, five and one-half furlongs—Madam Byng won, Review second, Blue Belle third. Time 1:11

Seventh race, five furlongs—Mansehen won, Tillolean second, Thrills third. Time 1:04 2-5.

SNAPPY GAME IS LOOKED FOR.

Sub Base Pigskinners Tackle Santa Fe Shops.

Proceeds of Contest Go to ex-Service Men.

Tilt Carded at Bovard Field on Next Monday.

In spite of the fact that most of the sporting gentry will have their eyes and their pocketbooks on San Diego next Monday, a snappy gridiron exhibition will be staged at Bovard Field that is worthy of attention. The Sub Base pigskinners have been matched with the Santa Fe shops eleven of San Bernardino, in a game that promises to be a wild and woolly affair. The Assistance League will take the entire proceeds of the game, and the funds will be distributed to ex-service men through the medium of the American Red Cross.

The Submarines' chief bid to fame is their pair of victories over Occidental and Redlands. North Island Air Station was the most recent victim of the Sub Base huskies, and by undermining the aviators the San Pedro men gained the land service title of the Pacific Coast.

COACHES TEAM.

Chaplain Henry Sanborn is coaching the team, and has developed a number of star performers during the season. Morice, captain and left half, is one of the best open-field runners who has been seen in action here this year, while Woodmansie at full is a consistent ground gainer.

The Santa Fe squad has had a successful season, being right up among the top-notchers in the commercial football field. Recently they played a scoreless tie with the speedy Southern Pacific eleven at San Bernardino.

Tickets for Monday's game may be secured at any of the sporting goods houses in Los Angeles.

TRAPSHOOTERS TO PLUG AT TARGETS.

Christmas morn is to be celebrated in great style by local trapshooters, when the fifth of a series of registered club tournaments is held.

An ideal holiday program has been arranged by President A. W. Bruner. The shoot will be at 100 targets with the scores to figure in the yearly A.T.A. standings as well as on the E. L. Kost class A and B trophies.

MUELLER LEADS IN THE BATTING LINE.

Hitting in his usual great form, Art Mueller, third sacker on the Gene Murphy nine, carried off the heavy swatting honors for the team this month and won the Gene Murphy trophy.

Manager Milt Unger announces that the jam shirt crew will lay off over the holidays and will resume play on January 8.

Bakersfield and Berkeley Schools in Hot Clash Today on Gridiron.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY (Cal.) Dec. 23.—Rain was predicted for tomorrow when the Bakersfield and Berkeley High School football teams compete on the University of California gridiron here for the State interscholastic championship.

Practice was held by both teams today, but the field was soft and little open work was attempted. Observers who have seen the teams in action say they both play an open game and so if it rains neither eleven will have an advantage.

COACHES SELECT ALL-STAR ELEVEN.

Walter Camp has nothing on the coaches in the Central League, who got together recently and selected an All-Central League team. Franklin High took the honors with four positions, indicative of the class the Benjamins have displayed during the past season. Following is the all-star line-up:

BOOSTS PRO FOOTBALL.

Professional Pigskin Game Is the One Sport in Which the Athletes Are All College Men.

BY ROBERT W. (TINY) MAXWELL.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—The college baseball player who jumps from the rah-rah ranks to those of the big leagues and makes good is a mighty rare bird. Of course, there have been Collinses and Sislers and their like, but they are scarce. The college boxer who climbs between the ropes to fame in the professional game is likewise a rare bird, only rarer, if you get what we are driving at.

there are more teams using this system in the country today than any other. The Harvard system I would put near the top, but no one man is responsible for it.

In the last analysis I consider the Centre eleven terribly fast, and it is this speed, I believe, coupled with sound coaching, that will result in Arizona's downfall at San Diego on Monday.

An the same thing goes on down through the list of sports almost to the bottom. But there is one in which the big professional stars of the game are almost entirely college men. This is pro football.

The professional gridiron game is becoming one of the biggest of the fall and winter sports in the Eastern and Middle Western parts of the country. Games which bring together the most prominent teams are drawing attendance by the thousands, with the prospects that a couple more years will see the professional football player standing out before a little sun all his own.

A few years ago very few men from the prominent colleges would so disgrace the colors of dear old alma mater as to drag the reputation made there in the mire of professionalism.

Now Yale, Harvard, Penn and all the others are contributing their quota to the list, and why not? it might be asked.

There is no difference between playing professional baseball and playing professional football. One is as high a sport as the other. Why should the knight of the gridiron retire into oblivion and a sedentary life immediately he doffs the pink and pale mauve of dear old Swissering or whatever his college may have been?

JUST LEARNING GAME.

The average youth, who has battled through three or four years of college football has developed a taste for it. It is like olives. He has learned to get accustomed to the bumps and bangs of the white-marked field. And he is just beginning to reach a stage of proficiency in the game where he can play it as it should be played and with lessened chances of being banged up and disabled. There is no use of mincing words, the average college footballer does not know how to play the game. Most of them are just learning and getting somewhere when they are given the sheepskin and told to go out and hand the world a wallop on each ear to let it know they are around.

They have been trained to a high state of physical perfection, where fine muscles and an overload of energy and vitality demand an outlet. If they are good enough it is hard to reject the tempting offers that are almost sure to be forthcoming to play the professional game.

And even if they do not need the money (as most do) they want to continue in the game. Therefore you will find that a large percentage are continuing in the professional ranks.

To see the teams like Canton Bulldogs, the Chicago Staleys, the Philadelphia Quakers, the Rochester Jeffersons, the Buffalo team, Frankford, Holmesburg and Conshocken in eastern Pennsylvania and some of the other first-class teams with many old All-American college stars in their line-ups means to see highly developed football. The game as they play it is far different from the college game. Perhaps it lacks some of the fire and spirit of the college sport, but it is better football. A touchdown in one of these games just about spells the margin of difference between defeat and victory.

GREAT TO WATCH.

They put up a defensive game that is marvelous to watch, and this takes away from the offensive angle of the game. They can diagnose and hold practically anything the opposition attempts and only the trickiest kind of trick plays can get by.

It would not be a surprising thing if professional football as it is at present proved to be in about the same condition that professional baseball was forty years ago. These men can play five games a week, strange as that may seem, when the college team cannot play more than one game a week. And with the way rivalry is increasing in the East a league would not be a surprising thing in the next few years.

Money Talked When Yankees Landed Frazee

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—The recent deal by which the New York Yankees acquired three great players from the Red Sox in exchange for four of doubtful value was not accomplished as the interested magnates wished the public to believe, without the influence of a bundle of coin. It was learned today that Ruppert and Huston, the Yank bosses, not only gave up four men, but placed an amount in excess of $100,000 to the credit of Harry Frazee, Boston club president.

The money angle was suppressed because of the attitude of the Boston fans toward Frazee. The latter stirred up a whale of a mess when he disposed of Babe Ruth and the same thing is happening again despite the fact that the fans were led to believe Frazee made the trade merely as one that would strengthen his club. Judging by the past performances of the players in the deal he not only hurt his team, but made the Yanks a cinch for pennant honors in 1922.

Looking back a few weeks one recalls a statement by one of the Yankee owners that the club would have two great pitchers in 1922 and it would cost money to get them. No names were mentioned at the time. However, the magnate had reference to the deal which hung fire until a few days ago.

One Boston scribe is so aroused over the last transaction that he has been wiring around the country seeking expressions from baseball men. One published in the Hub City yesterday credited Ban Johnson, president of the American League, with terming Frazee "the champion wrecker of the baseball age." Johnson, who is here, admitted the deal looked one sided to him, but he did not publicly term the Boston magnate a wrecker.

...ost Commends Champion for Drawing Color Line; Should Have Two Mitt Crowns.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

...me of the eastern sport writers are trying hard to work ...losing fans of the country to demand a fight between ...Willis, the colored heavyweight champion, and Jack ...Past history of fights between black and white men ...very plain that these fellows have not the best interest of the game at heart.

...John L. Sullivan's en... ...absolutely refused ...fight a colored man and ...did. Yet he was the ...popular pugilist ever in this ...when Peter Jackson ar... ...from Australia there ...talk of matching him ...L. Sharkey said John was ...Peter and gave that as ...for drawing the color ...

...Sullivan was afraid of ...or white. John did ...enemies and when pinned ...to the reason he said: ...good Lord ever intended a ...to be as good as a white ...would never have painted ...and let it go at that. ...fighters have done a bit ...we all know. But the ...fakes have taken ...black and white ...

...There is no doubt in my ...some of the black fel... ...quite as willing to fight ...as the white men are, ...being misguided and mis... ...managers and white ...In each case ...fights there was ...of bitterness and ...matching white ...

...Jim Jeffries and Gans-Terry Mc... ...in Chicago years ago ...fully refuted the fake. That ...fight closed the boxing game in Chicago.

Then the Joe Wolcott-Kid Lavigne fight in San Francisco, when after Wolcott had Lavigne nearly out in the fifth round, he suddenly got cramps in his legs and his manager threw up the sponge to be sure Wolcott would lose the fight. It was a wonderful fight, but a fake nevertheless.

Then we come down to the Battling Nelson-Joe Gans, which, in my opinion, was on the square. Nelson claimed he won fairly, but was declared the loser on a foul, which he claimed he never committed. Still there was the cry of fake just the same.

Later still we come down to the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno. Jeff had virtually retired from the ring. But many of these same fellows who are crying for a fight between Dempsey and Willis worked the public up to demand that Jeff come back and fight Johnson. Many of Jeff's near friends advised him not to do so under any circumstances. But the press agents worked on the sports so cleverly that the match was made and we all know the result.

If Jeff had won that fight, there are thousands who would have said that the fight was a fake and Johnson was paid to lay down. That fight was on the square from beginning to end. But what was said of Jeffries after? "It served him right; he never should have fought a negro. He was all in and could not come back, etc."

The sporting public is inconsistent. The winners are always the "I told you so," and the losers are full of alibis.

Jack Dempsey should be highly commended for the stand he is taking in absolutely refusing to meet Willis until the public demands the fight.

Those who are interested in boxing will never insist on a match of that kind and should pay no attention to these press agents who are looking for a little side money and some cheap self-advertising. We should all consider the race prejudice and feeling of the country and cut out all contests between colored and white men. Let the colored boys have their champion and there has been some wonderful pugilists from their race. But for the good of boxing it is better to keep them apart from the white boxers. We should not so easily forget the notorious affairs of Jack Johnson after he won the championship and the harm he has done the boxing game.

SALT LAKE TO HAVE NEW NINE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23. Only three men, Paddy Siglin, Heinie Sands and Oscar Vitt, are sure of their berths on the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League next season, Duffy Lewis, manager of the Bees, said here. The team is to be rebuilt from the ground up.

"Salt Lake wants a first-class baseball club next year and we will try to produce it," Lewis said.

WILDCATS OFF FOR SAN DIEGO.

Arizona Eleven Leaves to Battle Colonels.

Governor Sends Message of Cheer to Team.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Dec. 23.—The Arizona Wildcats, twenty-four strong, left Tucson this evening for Los Angeles, thence to proceed to San Diego for the game Monday with the Centre eleven.

Today the following message was sent by Gov. Campbell to President Wallace of the University of Arizona student body: "I deeply wish I could go with you and pull, pull, pull, but State business will not permit. I know you are up against a Goliath, but have hopes in the Davids of Arizona. My best and sincere wishes go and stay with you.

"The biggest thing that an happen to our Alma Mater will be taking the scalps of the "Praying Colonels." Fight you Wildcats, fight and hold that line. While not present in person, my thoughts will be battling for you on the big day. All Arizona is with you and for you, and feel that you will give the last drop in victory or gallant defeat."

BOWLING NOTES.

As play progresses in the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Bowling League tournament now going on at the Majestic Alleys, it becomes more interesting. The various teams have settled down to the last half of the grind with the result that they are bunching up. The feature of the week was the trimming of the Pacific Electric by Capt. Cy Young and his aggregation of pie artists. The New York Cloak and Suit House are steadily climbing up the percentage column.

In the individual standings there is a very pretty race on for first honors. Team standings and individual average follow.

Wills Wants a Chance at Jack's Title.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. — Harry Wills, the boss of the colored heavies, was in Chicago for a few hours yesterday, leaving in the evening for Portland, Or., where he steps against Bill Tate on January 2. His brief stop here was passed in visiting friends and he avoided places frequented by flitic persons.

"I expect to take care of Mr. Tate this time; in fact, I am planning to be real rough with him," said Wills.

Any one of the opinion Wills isn't anxious to hook up with Jack Dempsey in a championship brawl quickly finds that idea dissipated after conversation with the big negro. Wills doesn't believe it is up to him to make a match with Dempsey, but quite forcibly remarked that he would like nothing better than a shot at the title.

No Contest With Nebraska, Says Gus Henderson.

All negotiations for a game with Nebraska at Lincoln in 1922 and one here in 1923 have been called off, it was announced yesterday by Gloomy Henderson, U.S.C. head football coach. In fact U.S.C. never seriously entertained the proposition, Henderson said, because of the length of time it would keep the players from their classes.

TOWNS AFTER SEALS TO COME AND TRAIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCICO, Dec. 23.—Five California points, Bakersfield, Watsonville, Paso Robles, Boyes Springs and Porterville want to provide training grounds next spring for the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League, it was announced here recently. Selection will be made after the first of the year.

THIS WAY OUT, PLEASE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. — Pete Herman was returning to New Orleans today after being stopped in his second effort to regain the bantamweight title. He lost the decision to Midget Smith last night after fifteen rounds.

COFFEY BEATS BOBBY ERTLE.

Has a Clear Margin All Way in Good Fight.

Last Round of Semiwindup is a Dandy.

But Rest of the Program is Very Mediocre.

Joe Coffey's slugging match with Bobby Ertle was the one redeeming feature of the program at the Hollywood Legion Stadium last night. Aside from the four rounds of the main event, in which Coffey batted Ertle around for a hard-won decision, the fans spent a quiet evening, the average fight having the enthusiasm of an argument by mail.

Coffey took the aggressive with the opening gong, and began landing a series of stinging rights and lefts before Ertle knew what was happening. Bobby countered with his pet left jab, but Coffey's hooks did the damage, and the round was his.

Ertle began slugging in the second period, but his blows seldom found their mark. The elusive Coffey was in and out, pasteing his mitts on Ertle's head, and punishing him in the clinches. Ertle landed a few as the gong rang, but Coffey took the round.

WILD AFFAIR.

The third session was a wild affair, both boxers working hard and exchanging solid swats. Coffey had a shade in this canto also, but stopped several of Ertle's jefts, and was knocked against the ropes by a vicious uppercut.

In the final round both pugs roughed it up ambitiously, each taking a turn at mauling the other at the ropes. Coffey planted a haymaker in Ertle's solar plexus in the last stages of the bout and followed it up with several right hooks to the jaw. The round and bout were awarded Coffey.

Spec Rameis and Johnny McManus repeated their stunt of last week by milling to a draw in the semi-windup. The final round was a toe-to-toe swatfest that had the fans delirious with joy. McManus had the scrap on ice until this round, when Spec came to life and used his fists to good advantage.

In the preliminaries Red Murray won a decision from Bud Omar in a comedy bout, Jack Spar and Willie Hunt scrapped to a draw, Young Hoppe slaughtered poor old Len Lauder, whose science was of no use against Hoppe's slugging tactics, Kid Mende ruined Young Dayton, and Willie Hunefeld won from Bud Soules in a bloody exhibition that had the earmarks of class.

George Blake was the arbiter in the ring, while Dan Tobey howled out the necessary announcements.

BEAR PUBLICITY MAN IS IN CITY.

As advance guard of the California Bears, some of whom will arrive tonight from Berkeley, came T. E. Stealey yesterday. He is the university publicity man, and will be very much on the job while the wonder eleven is going through its paces next week in preparation for the game with Washington and Jefferson, on January 2. Stealey says Andy Smith, coach, has not decided just where he will have his team train. The Bears desire more secrecy than could be had at Tournament Park last year, and may go elsewhere this year.

FUTURE GREAT OF MURRAYS' ARRIVES.

One of the 1940 Olympic champions will be Miss Lorraine Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Feg Murray, who arrived at the home of her parents yesterday morning. The announcement of the young lady's athletic proclivities may be a bit premature, but you couldn't convince Feg Murray, former Stanford star hurdler, of it if you tried. Besides being an athlete of repute Murray is a cartoonist, his ideas often adorning the pages of The Times.

WHITTIER WINS.

The Whittier College crack quintet of casaba tossers pumped it into the Long Beach National Guards last night at Whittier 27 to 25. Pickett starred for the Whittiers with 13 points. Douglas refereed.

ONE BUSINESS MAN'S GOLF TEST.

We now have golf in a somewhat new aspect which I will call, for want of a better term, "The business man's golf."

"Business man's golf" is not for an afternoon what the theater is for an evening. I mean by "business man's golf" that the game is serving a great and useful purpose in giving some men a basis of judgment in analyses of other men which often must be made hastily. Doubtless, many men have had themselves put to this test of a game of golf when business deals of vast importance were pending with never an inkling that other men—watching the play—had some things in views that were far distant from the mere pleasure and recreation involved.

I have in mind a story told me just the other day by a business acquaintance who had found, he averred, an unfailing test for business integrity. This man deals with big things, and in big sums. When you or I make a mistake, picking a wrong man, we can call it experience. But if he picked a wrong man his directors might call it a disaster.

We all have our ways of arriving at a decision on matters of business, and we say our batting average is good if we choose rightly six times in ten. This man told me he has one sure test with which he takes men over that last hurdle, and, everything else being satisfactory, it is the afternoon of golf that determines his judgment for or against the serious problems he has to dispose of. He has taken men hundreds of miles by train, in winter months, solely for this one game of golf—his test game.

The guest of his who, with a $500,000 deal in the air, slyly moves his ball from a bad lie, or who forgets a few strokes when asked for his score at the green—is lost. He never learns, probably, that such practices on the links were what ushered him politely from the scene of his near conquest in business, and sent him homeward with a big contract nearly—but not quite—signed up.

"I feel I am always safe in these judgments," this acquaintance told me. "In the first place these judgments have several times been confirmed by later events, while as a general rule I am convinced that the man who knowingly cheats in a sport rivalry is not to be trusted whole-heartedly in important business matters. In the financial negotiations I have to face there is no quarter for any man who fails to first impress and then convince me he is to be trusted absolutely. You have heard of the man who couldn't borrow money, and so went to Morgan. Morgan walked around the block with him, and said: 'Now you can borrow money anywhere. You've been seen with me. That makes your word good.' We want a man's word to be like that, and one game of golf with a business man usually shows me if it is."

Like the man who would never smoke again if he knew his next cigar would kill him, many players would not fudge just that harmless little bit if they thought something of real importance attached to it.

Something of real importance does attach to every instance of such playing, and if this article seems, somehow, to be talking particularly to you—well, you will know what the answer is. Golf is now our greatest sport. And the word sport implies sometimes big and true.

SAXOPHONES

Free Lessons With Every Saxophone Sold

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

The Instrument of Unlimited Possibilities

This wonderful melody producer was invented by Antoine Sax (a Belgian,) from which it derives its name.

The first Saxophones brought to this country were crude affairs as compared with the highly developed Buescher True Tone instruments of today.

Not until Mr. F. A. Buescher applied himself to the development of Saxophone possibilities did this now popular instrument begin to take the place it deserves in musical organizations. The first saxophone made in the United States was the product of Mr. Buescher's study, application and skill. This original instrument was made for E. A. La Fevre, then the world's most widely known saxophone virtuoso. The present popularity of the Saxophone is due in no small measure to Mr. Buescher's continued efforts towards the improvement and simplification of the instrument.

This instrument should be as much a part of your home as the piano or phonograph. It can be played with either one of these instruments to wonderful advantage; in fact, the piano itself, whether operated mechanically or otherwise, is of great assistance to the beginner in learning to play.

Parents who have the best interests of their children at heart should investigate the possibilities of this instrument. As an aid to deep breathing and its consequent improvement in the player's health, the Saxophone is specially recommended.

FREE LESSONS

With every Saxophone purchased at our store we give a course of private instruction, giving you the choice of several teachers. For the past five years we have been unable to make deliveries of Buescher Saxophones during the Holidays because of the heavy demand, so we urge you to place your order with us now. Pay us a small deposit and we will reserve the Saxophone for you. You will then be sure of your instrument.

If not convenient for you to visit our store, one of our demonstrators will gladly call at your home and give complete details. We will forward free to anyone upon request a copy of the booklet:

"The Origin of the Saxophone" which fully illustrates the complete Saxophone family.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Business Slows Down for Triple Holiday; Forecast for January; Sermon in Meat; Federal Reserve.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

The holiday spirit was abroad yesterday to an extent which practically excluded ordinary business. Trading on the exchange was light and scattered; bond men did not attempt to do much more than handle a few last-minute Christmas sales, and other lines were running under wraps. In the retail district, of course, things were humming, and a heavy trade turnover resulted. Today the exchanges will be closed, although the New York wires will be in operation on the usual Saturday schedule. Except in the stores, there will be a general suspension of business at noon today, and even the department stores committed to a 1 o'clock closing policy will not deviate therefrom.

There is a difference of opinion as to the volume of holiday shopping as compared with that of last year, but it is likely that it will be found, when the statistics are made, that the gross is somewhat reduced, due partly to price readjustments, partly to the weather and partly to a somewhat curtailed spending program by the public.

A great deal of the last-minute advertising is devoted to gift suggestions, and from a casual review of the offerings it appears that the range was never so wide as it is this year, embracing everything from an automobile, a grand piano or a house and lot to a necktie and a handkerchief with thousands of in-between items.

In the more expensive gifts furniture has had a good run, with musical instruments and electric household devices in fair demand. Leather goods are popular, as are men's furnishings.

The outgoing rush at the postoffice is over, but delayed trains have added to the burdens of the incoming departments which last night were struggling under an avalanche of mail.

DAY IN REVIEW.

January is likely to be a month of conferences, each one fraught with possibilities to the business world. The disarmament group will have some important conclusions to announce during the month, and yesterday the President called a general meeting of the business heads of the government, at which an extension of co-operative and interlocking devices will be discussed and the budget system given new momentum. In Europe the Allied Council plans a general economic conference, from which great things are expected in clearing the atmosphere and perhaps going far toward a solution of the economic problems which are retarding our overseas trade development.

An encouraging statement of the copper situation was forthcoming yesterday, when it was announced that out of 500,000,000 pounds of the metal sold by American producers during the five months ended December 1, 230,000,000 have been for export and 270,000,000 pounds for domestic delivery. This shows an average of 45,000,000 pounds a month for foreign buying in the American market, compared with less than 45,000,000 pounds in the first half of the year.

Another optimistic announcement of the day was to the effect that railroads are to make a voluntary reduction of 10 per cent in freight rates on cotton, butter, poultry and other commodities, effective January 1. These cuts are in addition to reductions on grain ordered on western roads by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

On the labor side, heavy Christmas disbursements of additional compensation were made, and President Wood of the American Woolen Company disposed of a disconcerting rumor with the statement that wages will not be cut for the coming season.

Average price of industrials and rails showed fractional declines as a result of the day's trading, but, on the whole, the tendency was encouraging and the outlook from a prebolliay basis excellent.

PETTINGELL MENTIONED.

As soon as the news of the resignation of Corporation Commissioner Bellows was made public yesterday a boosting movement was started by a number of friends of Frank Harvey Pettingell, president of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, for the job. It was claimed by these that Mr. Pettingell would have substantial support in all parts of the State, and especially in the South, where his activities in investment circles and as a member of the library and other boards are well known. Mr. Pettingell said last evening that the suggestion came as a surprise to him, but declined to make any further statement.

MEAT SITUATION.

The research department of the Citizens' National Bank yesterday issued a bulletin covering the meat situation together with a chart summary of the price trend from 1913. The story which the chart tells of the position in which the meat producer finds himself, is not a pleasant one, whereas his costs, both of operation and personal expenses are measured by the position of labor, freight rates and cost of living, which average far above the 1913 level, his income is fixed for the present actually 1 per cent below 1913 levels. To a large extent the same situation exists for all primary producers of foods, and the farmers of the nation have not neglected to call our attention to the fact.

If we may be privileged to hang a sermon on this outline, there are several factors which must be generally recognized and corrected before we may expect any stabilization of prices and any permanent national prosperity. Let us take for example the items included in the wholesale and retail price list. Whereas ham and pork chops are selling far above the average retail food level, rib roast, chuck roast and plate beef, the less attractive cuts, are very materially below that level.

The spread here between these items which on a similar chart for 1913 would be on exactly the same level, is a very plain portrayal of the fact that since 1913 we have developed an appetite for the fancy and higher priced foods for which we are paying heavily. By refusing to buy as freely as we once did of cuts of meat which require a little more care in cooking, we are forcing the retailer and wholesaler to boost the prices of the more desirable products such as ham and pork chops to a higher and higher figure, in order to equalize the small profits in the less readily salable items. As a nation, we have much to relearn of the elementary principles of common sense thrift.

It is obvious that sooner or later the picture represented on the chart must be redrawn through a thoughtful revision of our national economic practices so that we no longer place our primary producers at a paralyzing disadvantage, either prices to the cattlemen and farmers must be adjusted upward, or the other items on the chart which represent their expenditures must be readjusted downward into conformity with their lowered purchasing power. Until this adjustment is made, the stabilization of prices so much desired by all business men and so necessary to progress, will be impossible.

FEDERAL RESERVE.

Comparative statement of condition of the Twelfth Federal Reserve Bank, at the close of business December 21, was made yesterday at the office of the Los Angeles branch. Gold reserves showed a slight increase for the week and deposits a small decline. Among the totals included in the statement are the following for Dec. 21, and Dec. 14, 1921, and Dec. 23, 1920, respectively.

Total gold reserves, $221,593,000; $220,747,000; $173,133,000. Bills on hand, $37,864,000; $36,273,000; $215,049,000. Earning assets, $96,122,000; $94,362,000; $227,046,000. Total resources, $429,023,000; $428,901,000; $453,186,000.

Total deposits, $126,813,000; $127,050,000; $114,612,000. Federal reserve notes in actual circulation, $237,339,000; $231,268,000; $272,548,000. Discount rates on all classes of paper remains unchanged at 5 per cent as of November 2.

BUSINESS VOLUME SMALL.

Stock Market Moves Undecidedly, Presenting Mixture of Net Advances and Declines.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. — On a greatly reduced volume of business, total transactions being the smallest of any day since October 20, today's stock market moved undecidedly, presenting at the end lately familiar mixture of net advances and net declines, both ranging as high as two to three points in stocks with which professional speculators were busy.

Foreign exchange repeated the slow downward movement of the day before.

COTTON GOES UP.

Today's upward tendency in wheat and cotton had no great significance in the long alternation of rising and falling prices. The persistent return of the cotton market this week, however, to the highest price touched in a month may have some reference to the Washington estimate that the whole world's cotton crop appears to be not only smaller than 1920 by 5,000,000 bales, or nearly 25 per cent, but the smallest in twenty-one years.

In its own comment on the reserve in operations this week the Federal Reserve Board remarks that the Dallas Reserve Bank having taken up $1,000,000 of paper rediscounted for it by the Boston bank "no interbank accommodation" remains.

NOTABLE EVENT.

This quiet statement draws attention to a really notable event. One must go back to 1917 to find a time when one or more of the reserve banks were not borrowing from others. Reviewing the year 1918 the Reserve Board stated in its annual report that such transactions had been "unusually heavy," chiefly because of the large sums loaned by the banks on war-bond collateral.

A year later the board reported that in 1919 "rediscounting between Federal reserve banks has been continuous." It made the same report of 1920, explaining the recourse to interbank borrowings then as having been taken "in order that reserve banks having low reserves might extend further accommodation to their members and still maintain their minimum reserve requirements."

ON OWN FEET.

Early in the present year the account stood as high as $115,000,000, representing the helping out of five of the twelve banks by that expedient. Its disappearance now leaves every reserve bank standing on its own feet, with the lowest cash reserve at any bank higher than the New York ratio at the beginning of this year and with all but one of them reporting a higher ratio than the average for the system at the end of 1920.

The inference is important, in connection with both the strength of our banking position as a whole and with release of the long tied-up credits in the West and South.

BUSINESS NEWS.

Currency Inflation and Public Debts; An Orange Immigrant; Copper; Bonds; Rail Earnings.

Currency inflation and public debs form a vexing problem which has called forth the liveliest discussion not only in the ranks of economists, but also among business people who find in the fluctuations of the foreign exchanges a constant reminder of the financial difficulties which confront the world. A most valuable treatment of this important subject is contained in "Currency Inflation and Public Debts," a booklet just issued by the Equitable Trust Company of New York.

In a prefatory note, Alvin W. Krech, president of the Equitable Trust, points out that "the extraordinary currency inflation of the various late belligerent governments of Europe is setting up new and wholly factitious channels of world trade. Temporarily at least the trade of those nations having currencies nearest to so-called parity is being violently wrenched from them by the industrial nations which are recklessly hurrying along the road to extreme inflation and financial ruin.

"The reason for this lies primarily in the fact that the purchasing power of the depreciated currency is for a time much greater at home than abroad during the progress of its depreciation, particularly when prices of vital necessities such as food, housing and transportation are controlled and fixed below cost of production and the government absorbs the loss by the further issue of currency. In other words, the home currency will buy more labor and domestic raw material combined for export purposes than the quoted international exchange would lead one to believe."

Dr. Edwin R. A. Seligman, author of the treatise, has drawn heavily upon history for material for his paper and no matter how unsettled currency conditions may be now, the optimist may learn from this book that this is not the first time that the nations have suffered from the most deadly financial and economic diseases, and that they have all survived and have always recovered and flourished in renewed prosperity. Illustrting this point Mr. Krech writes:

"Less than 100 years after the stupendous madness of the assignats, France becomes Europe's banker; half a century after the Risorgimento Italy develops into a power of the first rank; Germany a geographischer Begriff at the beginning of the nineteenth century, is an ironclad empire at the beginning of the twentieth. . . . The greatness of nations is not to be found solely in metallic reserves and balancing budgets: the iron fields of Lorraine, the beauty of Paris, the intelligence and courage of the men and women in the fields of France, are not all these to be put down to France's credit in the grand livre de la dette publique?

"Italy is electrifying her railroads and ere long the waterfalls of her own Alps and Apennines will give her all the power she needs and free her from servitude to the English collieries. So astounding an industrial resurrection may well lessen the hardships following in the train of the re-establishment of the depreciated currency.

"Germany is confronted with serious perils; given every possible consideration under the existing treaty, the measure of her recovery depends largely upon the qualities of order, thrift and discipline to which her nationals have been trained for generations, but to this must be added a corresponding loyalty to her new political regime which thrusts upon the people wholly unaccustomed civic responsibilities."

AN ORANGE IMMIGRANT.

In the greenhouse of the Department of Agriculture at Washington stands an old orange tree, remarkable in many respects. In its history, says the Wall Street Journal, it might be compared with Jacob's migration into Egypt, for it, too, is an immigrant and the progenitor of a great and valuable tribe of its kind. Fifty-one years ago it came from Brazil, a little slip budded to the navel orange, at that time unknown here. Then the bureaus of plant industry, soils, Biological Survey, forest and chemistry were called in to attend the little stranger. In time two young plants were propagated, which were sent to California in 1873. The increase of the navel family in California was so that now it furnishes commerce every year with 5,600,000 boxes of oranges and 3,000,000 pounds of other products, to the great profit of the State of California, and the transportation companies.

COPPER SITUATION.

The way in which the copper market has improved within recent weeks places the metal in a position which will allow American producers to view the reopening of their mines much sooner than anticipated a few months ago, in the opinion of "The Engineering and Mining Journal," which adds: "The record for the last part of 1921 is especially pleasing when compared with a similar period last year. The copper dropped steadily from 18.50 cents in July to 12.75 cents at the end of 1920. The present behavior of the market is a complete reversal of last year's record. The patient is being cured by bitter medicine—an almost complete closure of American mines and some financial surgery which has alleviated the pressure of surplus stocks. These drastic measures have so improved the copper situation that a revival of the industry is not far off."

UNITED CIGAR STORES.

The United Cigar Stores Company floated a $5,000,000 cumulative preferred 7 per cent stock issue yesterday through a banking syndicate headed by Guaranty Company of New York, and participated in locally by Blyth, Witter & Company. The stock was offered at 103 and was quickly taken up. The United Cigar Stores have no funded debt and have earned for a long period of years an average income that exceeds interest charges on this issue six times.

SYNDICATE FORMED.

Hunter, Dulin & Company and the First Secuftites Company have announced the names of the selling-group that will be associated with them in the marketing of the new issue of $800,000 Rich Steel Products Company, ten-year convertible 8 per cent gold notes. These participants are: Drake, Riley & Thomas, Cyrus Peirce & Company, Cahn, McCabe & Company, the Howard G. Rath Company, M. H. Lewis and Paul B. Hammond. The Rich Steel Products Company has a large plant at Vernon and the underwriters report that Los Angeles investors are giving hearty support to the new financing of this local industry.

S. P. EARNINGS.

Southern Pacific November gross earnings of $21,939,000, as compared with $26,632,000 for October, resulting in a decrease on a net $4,901,000, was followed by placing of selling-orders in the stock, but there are reasons for believing that this company, is earning in excess of $10 a share, and, with its great underlying equities plainly in view, investment absorption on a scale down is expected in the event of decline. The management is not neglecting maintenance as evidenced by its recent orders for new rolling stock and rails.

YESTERDAY ON THE HOME EXCHANGE.

The local stock exchange shook off some of its pre-holiday lethargy Yesterday and while there was fairly active, although scattered on the cheaper mining and oil issues. Most of these stocks developed bullish tendencies on their return to life and closed with substantial gains. In the mining group Telluride and United American each gained 1 cent and Ostrom United advanced 1½ cents. Of the oils, United Eastern was unchanged at 32.82½. Republic Petroleum gained ¼ and closed at 27½ bid. Union Oil also closed at 27½ bid, a gain of ¼. General Petroleum and Union of California each declined ¼ point to 52 and 1.00, respectively. Henry Oil & Gas Trust and Ohio Oil & Gas common down 1¼ to 63. Los Angeles Investment was off ¼ cent, selling at 64½.

Following are the closing prices and sales as posted yesterday in the Stock Exchange Building:

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Apart from the conflicting movements of a few wspeculative issues, today's session of the stock exchange was the dullest and most uneventful in several weeks. The money market interposed no restraints, rates for call money easing perceptibly. Renewals over Christmas were made at 5 per cent, although the opening quotation was slightly higher.

The impending holidays reduced attendance of the members and the trading element confined its operations to the usual favorites of the oil, equipment, motor, copper and miscellaneous divisions. A few stocks in the railway group, especially Chicago and Northwestern, were depressed to levels approximating lowest prices of the year.

Circumstantial rumors of mergers helped to sustain interest in equipments and coppers, especially American Locomotive. The financial standing of various steel and motor companies, however, added to the reactionary tone of those issues. Sales amounted to 535,000 shares.

Business in foreign exchanges was at low ebb and irregular. Sterling was comparatively heavy, while French, Italian and Belgian rates were firm to strong. Quotations to most of the North European countries were lower, but Swiss francs again rose well above parity. Liberty Bond issues made further recoveries and French municipals also rallied moderately. Rails eased, however. Total sales, par value, aggregated $18,750,000.

AN TO APPEAL HONE INCREASE

Attorney Preparing Rehearing Plea.

Exorbitant Now, is His Contention.

Demands Improved Service Before Rise.

City Attorney Stephens announced yesterday that he will file next week, with the State Railroad Commission and on behalf of the city, a petition for a rehearing in the Southern California Telephone Company's case in which the company was recently awarded a 25 per cent increase in telephone rates, effective January 1. The petition for reconsideration will be based on City Attorney Stephens' contention that the present rate is exorbitant for the service now rendered telephone users, and that the company should be improved and adequate service before being given an increased rate.

"The people's side of the telephone rate case," said City Attorney Stephens, "is that regardless of what the service may cost the telephone company, the people should not be required to pay for the service one cent more than it is worth. And we are paying now exorbitant rates for the quality of service we receive."

The Board of Public Utilities yesterday adopted a report submitted by Chief Engineer Osborne recommending that the City Attorney be asked to fight the telephone rate increase, and on receipt of the board's recommendation City Attorney Stephens said that the board's action met with his entire approval.

OSBORNE'S REPORT.

Chief Engineer Osborne in his report to the board said, "As a condition precedent to any increase of rates, the Southern California Telephone Company should bring its telephone service up to the standard considered normal in other large cities as determined by qualified experts.

"As a condition precedent to any rise in rates, the Southern California Telephone Company should be required to bring its delayed installations down to normal basis.

"During the recent storm approximately 20,000 telephones, over one-tenth of the entire system, were out of commission. It is our belief that a policy prescribed for the Southern California Telephone Company is largely, if not wholly, responsible for this condition.

"Adequate preparations were made by the engineers of all other utilities supplying the city of Los Angeles with water, electric power, electric light, transportation and gas.

OTHERS PREPARED.

"It is inconceivable that the undoubtedly capable telephone engineers of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, and the Southern California Telephone Company should have been unable to foresee and prepare for the growth of the city of Los Angeles.

"We contend that the increase in rates should have been made contingent on such foresight, together with the proper financial support which would have given the city adequate telephone capacity and service.

"We believe, therefore, that the financial interests backing the Southern California Telephone Company should be made to bear the responsibility of our present deplorable situation with regard to service and capacity of plant, and that any new rates granted should be conditional on good service and on the reduction of 17,231 orders held for new installations and changes as of Dec. 20, 1921, to a working maximum of somewhere in the neighborhood of 5000."

JOBS LEAD TO ROW.

Wife Says Husband Didn't Want Her to Spend Money She Earned.

Although Barbara Layman wanted to buy theater tickets and a bedspread out of her own salary, William T. Layman objected and called her names, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Mrs. Layman.

In the complaint, which was filed by Attorney Clyde R. Burr, it is asserted that both Mr. and Mrs. Layman had jobs, but that any money Mrs. Layman desired to spend from her own salary precipitated a family row.

FOLKS BACK EAST WATCH FOR IT.

"Times'" Annual Midwinter Number, the Favorite New Year's Gift.

Costing no more than a high-grade mailing card, The Times' Annual Midwinter Number, to be published December 29, consisting of seven big magazine sections inclosed in a decorated wrapper, will be sold at 15 cents, or sent postpaid anywhere in United States, Canada or Mexico for 25 cents.

Eastern folks regularly look forward to receiving this colorful gift from California, the most unique and appreciated New Year's remembrance that can be sent. As the demand this year will undoubtedly exceed all past records, copies intended for eastern New Year's gifts should be ordered without delay.

Yesterday's rain brought the season's total close to the seven-inch mark, well above normal. In the twenty-four hours ended at 5 p.m. yesterday, .08 of an inch of rain fell, making 5.72 inches for the storm and 6.98 inches for the season. Last year's record to date was 2.93 inches. Normal rainfall for the same date is 4.26 inches.

The Los Angeles Weather Bureau last night forecast probable rain for today. An advanced prediction made by the San Francisco Weather Bureau forecast probable rains in all parts of California on Christmas Day.

Storm damage in this vicinity was being rapidly repaired yesterday. The steam railroads announced a return to normal conditions with the exception that the Santa Fe is still detouring mainline trains by way of Fullerton because of the washout at the San Gabriel River bridge.

MAKE ONE TRANSFER.

Pacific Electric officials say all the company's lines are in usual service except the Glendora branch, on which passengers are still being transferred across a washout near Azusa and hauled to their destination in busses.

The Automobile Club of Southern California issued the following road bulletin last night:

Foothill Boulevard is impassable beyond Duarte, due to a broken bridge at Azusa.

Los Feliz road is still closed.

Cajon Pass is virtually closed to motorists. Travel can be made in the daytime with a powerful car, but it is characterized as extremely dangerous.

Long Beach Boulevard is closed five miles from the beach city.

INLAND ROUTE CLOSED.

The inland route to San Diego is impassable, but the Coast Route can be negotiated.

The bridge between Downey and Bell is still out.

Coast road to San Francisco is impassable beyond Goleta.

The Ridge Route north is passable but dangerous. Motorists are warned to use extreme caution.

Whittier Boulevard is still out at Montebello. Detour must be made by way of the Montebello oil fields and San Gabriel Boulevard.

The valley road through Pomona is closed to travel for a short period at El Monte. Detours can be made via the Whittier Boulevard. The bridge at Puente is passable. On the valley road between Pomona and Ontario travel is impossible. The Foothill Boulevard at that point is used as a detour.

Terminal Tract Offer Rejected by Long Beach.

Los Angeles dock and terminal holdings, representing 244 acres, will not be acquired by the city of Long Beach, the City Council of that municipality yesterday having voted to reject the Dockweiler proposition for their transfer for a consideration of $3,000,000. The City Clerk of Long Beach will be instructed to notify Mr. Dockweiler of the declination of his offer.

Councilman Beck, who cast the single dissenting vote on the motion to reject the offer, contended that the voters ought to have an opportunity to decide the question, inasmuch as other bond propositions are to be submitted to them in the near future. Mayor Buffum of Long Beach asserted that the Council would not be justified in passing every issue over to the voters, whose representatives the Councilmen are.

WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH THEFT OF COAT.

HELD IN JUSTICE COURT FOR TRIAL FOR GRAND LARCENY.

For the asserted theft of a coat, valued at $95, from a department store, Miss Bessie Covington, a young woman, was held to answer yesterday by Justice Forbes. She is accused of grand larceny. Bertha Harris, a codefendant, was discharged by the court. Miss Covington's bail was set at $2500.

Testimony introduced by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts indicated that the stolen coat was found in Miss Covington's room. Myrtle Anderson of the store testified that she checked up the store stock and found a coat of that description missing.

LeRoy Barnett, defense attorney, asserted he believed the coat was not worth more than $20, but Justice Forbes held that the value of the coat was what one could get for it on the market.

ON STREET WIDENING.

The South End Business Association called a special meeting to be held at 8 p.m., December 28, in Burke's Hall, Slauson and Moneta avenues, to discuss the proposed widening of Slauson avenue. Invitations are extended to every one living on either side of Slauson and to the north and south of Slauson avenue, between Figueroa street and the eastern city limits, to attend.

MILLIONS PAID SAN DIEGO MAN.

Spreckels Gets Check for North Island.

Land Used for Aviation Field by Navy.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Santa Claus disguised as the United States mail is carrying to John D. Spreckels a government check for $6,980,333 as a Christmas present in full payment for North Island at San Diego. This sounds like good fortune and great liberality on the part of the Federal government, but the securing of this check is the end of a long battle filled with legal hurdles and every technicality that the government could use for its benefit.

When the government wanted North Island in San Diego Bay for a joint aviation base for the Army and Navy, the war was on and quick action was demanded. Mr. Spreckels was not anxious to sell but he agreed to do so. In the meantime the government was using this property, but an agreement for its sale to the government was drawn up, the value to be fixed by appraisement. When the award was made the government appealed from the decision as to its value and from that day until the final signatures were placed on the check in full settlement, it has been a battle royal.

OBSTACLES REMOVED.

Finally all the legal obstacles were removed and there seemed to be nothing left but to pay the award with interest, which amounted to several thousand dollars a day. The Democratic administration was loath to pay, although all the technical officers of the air service in both the Army and Navy declared it to be an ideal location for such a base.

In the last hours of the Wilson administration the case was referred to the Comptroller of the Treasury, who then was the court of last resort on all matters of audit and expense. He held on a technicality that the amount could not be paid and made an adverse ruling. In the meantime the interest was running up and the complications due to taking the property back with government improvements were discussed.

With the incoming of the Harding administration the budget bill was enacted into law and the office of Comptroller of the Treasury was abolished. In its place was created a new office, that of Auditor-General, which had much the same powers and among them the power of showing of additional facts of previous decisions. This all took time and the legal representative of Mr. Spreckels has been here for months to present the case in all its aspects to the new Auditor-General.

IS ORDERED PAID.

Finally the government wheels ground out the grist and the original award, together with the interest accrued, was ordered paid. When the check was finally issued the interest stopped and in the absence of official terms no one can say just what this amounted to in the aggregate, but it can safely be estimated at several hundred thousands, all because the government declined to accept a valuation which it considered larger than it had anticipated.

Now that the government owns North Island outright, it is the expectation in official circles that a great aerial base will be developed to the utmost degree. In fact, North Island now promises to see the greatest concentration of Army and Navy plane development in the United States. All air experts say that as a laboratory for the testing of craft in actual battle conditions it has no equal anywhere and a period of stagnation due to failure to take over the property is now at an end.

Onion Figures as Factor in Divorce Action

The onion, the subject of jokes both good and bad, yesterday came to the fore as a weapon of warfare in the divorce action of Mary Jessome against Michael D. Jessome. It is stated in a complaint filed by Mrs. Jessome that her husband threw one at her during a family argument.

The couple were married in Glace Bay, N. S., July 31, 1901, and separated on the 15th inst. Mrs. Jessome is represented by Attorneys Nix and Briney.

MAJ. MOSELEY DEAD.

Former Camp Kearny Quartermaster Expires Suddenly in Ohio.

Announcement was made yesterday of the sudden death last Saturday at Camp Sherman, Ohio, of Maj. L. Worthington Moseley, U.S.A. He was the quartermaster of Camp Kearny and major of the Sixty-second Infantry at that camp during the war.

Maj. Moseley was the son of Brig.-Gen. E. B. Moseley, retired, and Mrs. Moseley, of 7615 Fountain avenue, Hollywood, and a brother of Mrs. A. T. Harris and Mrs. W. F. Lewis, who is now in Manila. Maj. Moseley leaves a widow and daughter. They reside in Denver.

Maj. Moseley died at the age of 39. He had devoted his life to service in the Army, and had wide experience in the United States, Alaska and the Philippines.

The burial will be in the National Cemetery, at the Presidio, San Francisco.

FUNERAL FOR BABY.

Funeral services for Eugene Lee Goodrich, 7-month-old infant, who was suffocated Thursday at Los Angeles Harbor after the efforts of two physicians with a police pulmotor to revive it had failed, were conducted at 10 a.m. yesterday at the Goodrich Undertaking establishment at San Pedro. The baby was discovered unconscious by its mother shortly after daylight Thursday. The child had become wrapped in bed clothing.

SANTA TO BE HOST AT PARTY.

Holiday Entertainment at Monte Vista Lodge Planned for Children.

A Christmas party will be held at Monte Vista Lodge next Thursday, when 100 children from among those who have been "vacationists" there during the past months will return and spend the day with Santa Claus as host.

The Council of Community Service, under whose auspices the lodge is operated as a vacation camp, is giving a dinner and Christmas tree with program and games. The dining-room will be decorated for the event by young people from the San Fernando High School, who, together with students from Pasadena High School will serve the dinner that each "kiddie" may be assured of all good things offered. Mrs. Howard Reynolds will be general chairman of the party.

A group of young people from Glendale and Los Angeles, assisted by students from the Dramatic Art School, will decorate the tree, while Santa Claus comes from the football team of the Downey High School in the person of Fred Robinson. Mrs. Geddis, resident director of children's activities, is in charge of the children's games.

Adults are welcome to the party, though they must bring individual luncheons. Coffee will be served.

The Council of Community Service of California has been sending out Christmas cheer to hundreds of families during the entire month, culminating this week in a series of Christmas trees and Christmas parties. Community sewing centers operated during the past months have made thousands of garments, which together with blankets, warm comforters, toys, staple groceries and selected baskets have been distributed by an efficient committee and many subcommittees.

AUTO CRASH VICTIM IS EXPECTED TO DIE.

Struck down by an automobile driven by Charles B. Sexsmith of 20350 Sherman Way, on Sherman Way, near Van Nuys, early last night, a man, identified as Albert Smith, age about 35 years, suffered injuries from which he may die, according to police surgeons. He was first attended by Dr. L. S. Welsburn of Van Nuys and then sent to the Receiving Hospital, where it was found that he had a fractured skull and concussion of the brain. Later he was removed to the Pacific Hospital.

SEEKS TO RESTRAIN FILM PRODUCTION.

In an action brought by Nate C. Watt against the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, and Louis V. Eytinge, an order was issued yesterday requiring the defendants to show cause before U. S. District Judge Bledsoe, why they should not be restrained Thursday from producing a motion picture entitled "Jack Gilbert—the Peter Man." According to the bill of complaint Mr. Eytinge is the author of the scenario. The interest if any is held by the plaintiff does not appear.
